Allies Have Troops Ready to Advance if Move Is Necessary

Forces in Metz and Strasbourg Regions Prepared to Move Forward if Conditions in Germany Do Not Quiet Down, Says Dispatch.

London, March 20.—There are many indications, according to a dispatch from Cologne to-day, that the Allies are preparing to advance their concentrations of troops at Strasbourg and Metz into Germany if the country does not quiet down soon, the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Amsterdam reports.

London, March 20.—Two thousand persons had been killed up to to-day in the fighting incident to the German revolutionary movement and disturbances of the past week, it was estimated in Berlin, according to the Exchange Telegraph correspondent in that city.

London, March 20.—Communists who have occupied five stations in the eastern section of Berlin refuse to permit the resumption of railroad traffic until their demands have been met, says a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company filed in Berlin this morning.

Held By Communists. Berne, March 20.—The situation in the mining districts of the Rhineland is described in advices reaching here to-day as still extraordinarily serious. Several places are in complete control of Spartacans and Communists, their dominance being secured only after severe fighting.

EFFORT TO FREE DEBS FROM JAIL. American Socialists Plan Demonstration in Washington; Appeal to Wilson

Chicago, March 20.—A "spectacular but dignified" effort to secure the release of Eugene V. Debs, from the Atlanta, Ga., penitentiary, will be made in Washington, D. C., April 13, the national Socialist headquarters announced to-day. Debs, who probably will be the next Socialist Presidential candidate, was convicted under the Espionage Act and put into the prison April 13, 1919.

Delegates of Socialists and radicals from all parts of the country march up Pennsylvania Avenue, carrying placards and headed by a brass band, according to the plan. The procession will go to the White House, where it is planned to have a pre-arranged conference with the President. General amnesty will be asked for "all Socialists and radicals confined or under prison sentences under the Espionage Act."

ZAPATISTS GIVE UP IN MEXICO. Decide Not to Oppose Government Allied With Villa and Others

Mexico City, March 20.—Manuel Palafox, one of the leaders of the Zapatista movement, surrendered yesterday and is arranging with the War Department for the capitulation of remaining bands of Zapatistas formerly under command of Zapata, who was killed in a fight with Government troops, April 11, 1919. These bands are in Morelos and nearby states.

Palafox stated he could not continue to oppose the present Government in alliance with Francisco Villa, Felix Diaz, Manuel Pelaez and other rebel leaders.

Jugo-Slavia and Albania Are Expected to Agree

Washington, March 20.—Early agreement between Jugo-Slavia and Albania on a settlement of the Adriatic problem was predicted here to-day in diplomatic circles. Foreign Minister Trumbitch of Jugo-Slavia and Foreign Minister Konitsa of Albania, it was said, had been in conference in Paris for a week and a definite rapprochement between the two Balkan countries most vitally concerned in the Adriatic controversy was expected soon to mark the first step in a new settlement.

President Wilson's recent declaration on the subject of Albania in the correspondence with the Allied Premiers as to the Adriatic, officials said, also helped expedite an amicable agreement between the two Balkan countries.

TURKISH CHAMBER ADJOURNS; PROTEST AGAINST ALLIES

Ships Will Not Be Started Until Capital Is Raised

Warm support for the policy of Federal assistance to the local shipbuilding programme was expressed in a telegram sent by Premier Oliver to the Dominion authorities this morning. The Premier pointed out in a special wire to the Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Federal member for this city, that aid was required at the present juncture not only from the standpoint of business generally, but also on account of the urgent necessity to provide for those who are unemployed.

Strong efforts are being made by the Citizens' Committee to terminate the subscription campaign to-day in order to permit an early start in the shipbuilding operations of the Victoria Shipowners, Ltd.

At noon to-day slightly over $10,000 was required to assure the success of the scheme.

Must Be Subscribed. The Citizens' Committee wishes it to be emphasized that the shipbuilding programme cannot be commenced until the entire amount has been subscribed. The sum of $70,000 has been raised by the Citizens' Committee since its campaign was inaugurated a week ago. Some of the citizens have come through handsomely in support of this industrial project, but there still are many from whom the committee is waiting to hear from. If the canvasser has not yet called upon you the Citizens' Committee requests that you show your faith in your home city by taking your subscription to headquarters, corner of Broad and View Streets, before the close of to-day.

An intensive canvass is being conducted this afternoon and evening in the residential sections of the city. Men are confident that the last $10,000 will be put over with the termination of their labors to-day. Headquarters will remain open until a late hour this evening to take subscriptions.

Naval Boys' Parade. The Boys' Naval Brigade, headed by their bugle band, will parade the main thoroughfares of the city this evening on behalf of the shipbuilding project, a banner appropriately worded showing their connection with the enterprise.

The Citizens' Committee has pledged itself to raise the balance of the money required, but this must not be misinterpreted by the public as meaning that no more subscriptions are needed. The programme cannot be put into effect until the whole of the capital has been subscribed. This morning there is no more money required of the citizens. The committee desires to impress upon the public that the balance must be put over before the Victoria Shipowners, Ltd., can go ahead.

Chris. Chalmers stated this morning that he expects to be in a position to lay keels within a week after the full capital has been subscribed. "Don't delay. Do it now."

SEND MUSIC ACROSS CITY BY ETHER WAVES

Music from an ordinary phonograph playing in the Sprot-Shaw School, Pemberton Building, between noon and one o'clock to-day was sent flying across the city and was picked up and heard so plainly by J. H. Beatty and E. J. Haughton, Dominion Wireless Superintendent, out at the wireless station at Gonzales Hill, that they clasped hands and began to dance.

"It will only be a short time now before people will sit in their homes and clubs and listen to notable men orating in some hall hundreds of miles away," said W. K. Golden, of San Francisco, who is here making the wireless telephonic tests. He is accompanied by E. A. Portell.

Hear All At Home. "Grand opera enthusiasts sitting at their own firesides will be able to hear Caruso and Farrar sing in New York. Listening to early morning Sunday sermons may become more popular as the congregation with wireless telephone connection will be able to hear all that is said in bed and hear all that is said and take in all the hymns besides. Baseball fans will be able to take in the cheering and other features of a game thousands of miles away and hear all that is yelled at the umpire."

The Victoria wirelessphone station is now in full working order. A station is now being completed in Seattle. The San Francisco one has been working for some time in the Fairmont Hotel and as soon as Seattle (Concluded on page 14.)

A Berlin dispatch last night estimated that 300 persons were killed in fighting for the possession of Essen.

ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE IN UNITED STATES ATTACKS SENATOR

Washington, March 20.—The Anti-Saloon League to-day declared war on Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska. Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the League, in a formal statement, said the Senate's declaration in favor of an amendment to the prohibition code permitting light wines and beers "ought to defeat him not only as a candidate at the Democratic Convention, but for the leadership in the Senate."

COST OF PROHIBITION.

London, March 20.—The German National Assembly will continue its sessions in Stuttgart until conditions in Berlin are normal, says a Stuttgart dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company.

Berlin, March 19.—Via London, March 20.—Stormy incidents are expected when the National Assembly takes up the question of amnesty for the leaders of the reactionary revolt against the Ebert Government. Public sentiment here is bitter against the Baltic troops, and proposals to grant pardons to the revolutionists are certain to be opposed.

Reorganization of the Ebert Cabinet will bring half a dozen new men into the Ministry, it is said, but the National Liberals and Conservatives will not be represented. These two organizations have decided to await the result of the election in June before consenting to take part in the Government.

INFLUENZA WAVE NOW ELIMINATED

Reports Have Ceased to Reach Provincial Board of Health

British Columbians generally will be interested in the fact that reports on the influenza situation throughout the Province have ceased to reach the Department of the Provincial Board of Health. Except in one or two sections, whose medical health officers gave details of fresh outbreaks more than a week ago, Dr. Young stated this morning that conditions generally had dropped to normal.

Outbreaks of smallpox are still engaging the attention of the authorities. In these instances, however, the situation is well under control and the latest indications point to an early elimination of the epidemic stage.

Viewed in the light of comparison with the epidemic of 1918-19 Dr. Young is of the opinion that the 1920 recrudescence reveals a much less severe visitation. Here and there, he contends, groups of cases this year contain the same fulminant characteristics as in 1918.

He points out, on the other hand, that in the large communities especially there have been included with the cases of the epidemic influenza that group of cases of respiratory disease which would normally occur during the winter season.

Among these latter the doctor mentions a varying proportion of lobar pneumonia, and so forth, similar to those of 1918. He adds to this number a host of cases of colds and tonsillitis which, in non-epidemic periods, would be passed with less remark.

Noske Goes Back to Berlin With Cabinet as Defence Minister

Of the castle garrison, six were killed or badly wounded. On the people's side one man was killed and one wounded.

Large Rewards. London, March 20.—It was announced in the Baden Diet yesterday that the Ebert Government had offered large rewards for the arrest of Dr. Kapp and General Luetwitz, the leaders of the recent revolt in Berlin, according to a dispatch from Cologne to-day transmitted by the Exchange Telegraph correspondent at Amsterdam.

London, March 20.—Keen resentment is felt by moderate Labor leaders over the attack made upon the Labor Party by Premier Lloyd George when he launched proposals for a Liberal-Unionist coalition on Thursday. They declare the Prime Minister was "preaching class war" in outlining his reasons of the new political alignment.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, leader of the Labor Party in the House of Commons, has issued a statement saying: "Labor accepts the challenge of Mr. Lloyd George. We are arranging to appeal not only to the organized workers, but to every sympathizer of an early election."

MacGuirín, Sinn Féiner, Killed By Men in His Own Home

London, March 20.—The Lord Mayor of Cork was shot dead at 1 o'clock this morning. The revolver was fired by one of several masked persons whose identity is unknown. They entered his residence, and after firing the shot, escaped in an automobile.

A half-dozen men knocked at the door of the home of the Lord Mayor, Thomas MacGuirín, Mrs. MacGuirín opened the door and the men rushed in. Some of them held her while others ran upstairs to the Lord Mayor's bedroom. They took him to the landing and shot him in the chest. Then they fled.

Mrs. MacGuirín telephoned immediately for a doctor and a priest. The Lord Mayor died soon after the arrival of the priest.

Lord Mayor MacGuirín, a prominent Sinn Féiner, was interned after the Easter rebellion.

Precautions.

The Government is taking special precautions against possible outbreaks in Ireland on Easter Monday, according to The Daily Mail, which asserts that the authorities have known for some time that the Sinn Féin has considered the possibility of armed risings and drawn up its plans.

"Precautions also have been taken at Glasgow," the newspaper adds, "while the Sinn Féiners boast the possession of arms and ammunition and threaten a disturbance on Easter Monday. It is rumored that the prospective trouble in Manchester and Liverpool is not expected to materialize."

The Daily Mail declares that no arms from Germany have been seized and that the Government is convinced Germany is in no wise implicated in any Sinn Féin plot.

Regulations.

London, March 20.—Serious statements regarding the continued operations of the "Republican army" in Ireland were made in the Divisional Court here, when the question was raised as to the power to retain Irishmen in prison without trial under the Defence of the Realm Act, which was a war measure.

NEW ANTI-SEMITIC MOVES IN GERMANY

Berlin, March 19.—Via London, March 20.—A sudden and widespread revival of the anti-Semitic movement in Germany was felt to-day, when leaflets were distributed protesting against the presence of Jews in public offices and attempting to inflame the public mind by cartoons picturing the German people as starving in a cage, while merchants look on and are made to say: "Don't feed the animals."

The Baltic troops, which made such a sanguinary departure from the city, are accused of taking a leading part in the agitation.

Since the first German revolution in November, 1918, it has been estimated that about 30,000 Jews from Russia, Poland, Galicia and East Prussia have come to Berlin. The Jewish population of the capital is now estimated at 210,000. The great influx of Jews stirred up feeling because of the widespread circulation of reports that many Jews were speculating in foodstuffs and other necessities and operating as money lenders.

The recrudescence of the anti-Jewish movement is attributed by some to the attempts of the Conservatives to combat the growing strength of the radical elements, many leaders of which are Jews.

Regarding Germany, the Foreign Minister said he believed the chief trouble had ended with the triumph of the old Government, with which the Allies could easily deal. FUNDS ASKED FOR WINNIPEG STRIKERS

New York, March 20.—The general strike last Spring of 35,000 workmen in Winnipeg was a "magnificent thing," and in no sense a revolution, according to Joe Knight, a Canadian labor leader, who last night addressed a mass meeting called by the Workers' Defence Union to raise a fund for the strike leaders now on trial. Knight declared only one striker had been found guilty, thus far and the presiding judge "practically apologized for imposing the two years' sentence."

PEACE TREATY SENT BACK TO WILSON

United States Senate Makes End of Its Hopeless Task

Washington, March 20.—The Treaty of Versailles was returned to President Wilson to-day by the Senate after it had failed of ratification last night for the fourth time. When the treaty failed of ratification for the fourth time last night, and the Senate voted to send it back to President Wilson with a notification that it had finally "refused to advise consent to its ratification."

On the decisive roll call the vote was forty-nine for ratification to thirty-five against, the opposition numbering in its ranks twenty Democrats who were unwilling to see the treaty go through with the Republican reservations objected to by the President, three Democrats and twelve Republican irreconcilables.

Twenty-one Democrats quit the President's lead and voted for ratification, but the defection failed by seven votes of providing the two-thirds requisite to ratify.

Into Politics.
The result is regarded here as having put the treaty over into the political campaign for decision. The move to reconsider the vote and try once more to ratify collapsed in its inception, leaders on both sides agreeing that further ratification efforts would be a waste of time as long as the Senate membership remains as it is.

Whether the President would return the treaty to the Senate remained undetermined, but the Republicans served notice that if he did, it would require for many weeks to come in a committee pigeonhole. In the vote by which the Senate washed its hands of the subject and sent the treaty to the White House, the Republican leaders had the support of the mild reservationists as well as the irreconcilables of their party, while the Democrats voted almost solidly in opposition.

State of Siege.
The next step planned by the Senate majority is a declaration of a state of siege, to relieve the nation of the war status, which the Democrats maintain can be ended only by the treaty's ratification. A fight on that proposal will begin when the Senate reconvenes on Monday.

The roll call on ratification came four months, almost to an hour, after the failure of the three attempts at ratification on November 19. On that occasion the greatest strength developed for ratification with the Republican reservations was forty-one votes, only seven Democrats voting with the Republicans in the affirmative.

The vote against was fifty-one, made of thirteen Republicans and thirty-eight Democrats.

BIG NAVY SCHEME IS NOT EXPECTED

Estimates Will Be Tabled in Ottawa Commons on Monday Next

Ottawa, March 20.—Estimates for the coming fiscal year's expenditures will be tabled in the House of Commons Monday. In view of the majority opinion expressed at the Unionist caucus a few days ago, it is improbable that there will be provision for any naval programme beyond the customary votes for the naval service.

It is understood, however, that there will be a vote of about $20,000,000 for continuance of the Government's programme in regard to the Canadian mercantile marine. There is also likely to be a vote of $1,000,000, it is said, for development of aircraft and aerial defence.

Railways.
The result of the year's operations of the Canadian National Railways and its programme is awaited with special interest. The loss for the year on all lines, including the Grand Trunk Pacific, has been estimated as being in the neighborhood of $28,000,000, and provision for this will have to be made. Monday's estimates, however, will be only the reference estimates. Supplementary estimates will be tabled later in the session.

Changes.
It was officially announced yesterday that F. G. Robinson, Deputy Minister of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, had resigned to return to commercial life. He is succeeded by N. F. Parkinson, who has been Director of Vocational Training in the Department for some time past. Ernest Flexman, Assistant Director of Vocational Training, succeeds Mr. Parkinson as Director of Vocational Training.

Yesterday's Sitting.
Ottawa, March 20.—Discussion in the House of Commons on such varied topics as certificates for master mariners and the agreement between the Dominion Government and the City of Ottawa, with passing reference to the shipments of coarse grains from the West and a newspaper report that a wrong body had been sent from Kingston penitentiary to relatives of the deceased.

The Government resolution in regard to the master mariners' certificates was criticized by D. D. McKenzie, former Leader of the Opposition in the House, but secured the general support of Mr. Duff, Liberal member for Lunenburg, although Mr. Duff had a number of suggestions to make.

Mr. McKenzie thought the Minister of Marine should have followed the regulations of the British Board of Trade instead of laying "unholy hands" on them. Moreover, Mr. McKenzie argued, unless a certificate had the approval of the British Board of Trade, a captain might as well carry "a yellow covered almanac" in his pocket. The resolution was passed and a bill based thereon was given first reading.

Not Exempt.
A feature of the new agreement between the Government and the City of Ottawa is that under it civil servants resident in Ottawa will no longer be exempt from municipal income tax. This feature aroused some comment. Mr. Frupp, of Ottawa, thought it meant that the civil servants would have to receive higher salaries. Hon. W. S. Fielding, however, was of the opinion that it was high time the exemption was ended.

A bill to ratify the agreement was given first reading. The agreement also provides that the Government will pay to Ottawa $75,000 annually for the next five years in discharge of certain claims on the Government, and also will pay $150,000 annually to the Ottawa Improvement Commission, instead of the $100,000 paid under an old agreement. The bill also provides for the payment of $75,000 in discharge of all claims for water supply in public buildings and grounds in the City of Ottawa. This represents an increase of $50,000 over the sum paid under the old agreement.

Wheat Delayed.
W. H. White, of Victoria, Alberta, said the farmers of the Peace River District were having the greatest difficulty in shipping their grain. It was important that they get it shipped before the frost was out of the ground, as some had to drive in very long distances to the railway. A great many of these men are returned soldiers, who were depending on their first crop for some money.

Dr. Reid replied that he was already familiar with this situation. He was informed that snow blockades were responsible for the difficulties in the transportation. The railway serving this section was the Edmonton & Dunvegan. He had taken the matter up with the Canadian Rail-

SPARTACANS IN ESSEN.

Advices from Aix la Chapelle report the capture of Essen yesterday by a Spartacan army of about 100,000 men with seventy-seven guns and an equipment of armored automobiles. Dusseldorf, according to the same report, was captured by the Spartacans during the night, the Government troops abandoning the city without a fight.

If these advices are correct a new revolution, reaching the dimensions of a civil war, has broken out in Germany; an uprising of Spartacans and other radicals many times more formidable than the puny attempt of the reactionaries to re-establish Kaiserism and military rule in the country. In fact, if it is true that the captors of Essen and Dusseldorf number 100,000. President Ebert and his Government are confronted with a situation which is almost certain to cause its overthrow in favor of a form of radical dictatorship.

The possession of Essen gives the revolutionists the use of the great armament works of the Krupps, while the extension of their control over the big industrial regions in the west would make them the potential masters of Germany's economic life. How strong this element is in other parts of Germany remains to be seen, but judging by the frequent clashes in Berlin it is well represented there and has a big following in other important German centres.

What resources the Government has to meet this menace should be disclosed very soon, for the Spartacan uprising must be suppressed at once or it never will be put down. As every man in Germany is a soldier and has had military experience, the revolutionists obviously know how to fight, and if they are properly organized and have sufficient equipment they may prove superior in this respect to the Government troops, whose loyalty is yet to be tested. For some curious reason that loyalty was not tested when von Luetwitz with his 8,000 Baltic soldiers took possession of Berlin without having to strike a blow.

It is quite probable that before Germany has been able to make a new start she will have to pass much farther into the fiery furnace than she has gone. History shows that invariably in countries whose people have overthrown military rule the pendulum of reaction has swung in more or less degree towards the rule of the mob, the advocates of moderate democracy being annihilated in the process. This was the course of the French revolution and the Russian revolution, and if it proves the experience of Germany there should be no occasion for surprise or dismay.

Indeed, considering Germany's policy for the half century which preceded the overthrow of the Hohenzollerns, the nature of her activities during the war, the extent of her mental and moral debauchery by her military masters, the systematic brutalizing of her people, it will appear to us to be a miracle if these practices do not recoil upon her with terrible effect before she has purged herself of the great crime she perpetrated against civilization. The German people have yet to learn that defeat and material reparation are not the only or worst penalties of a war such as they, under the domination of Prussianism, let loose upon the world.

THE TREATY DEFEATED.

The rejection of the Treaty of Versailles, in the United States Senate, notwithstanding its numerous reservations, means that the issue will be put up to the electors in the forthcoming presidential election. It means also that the United States remains at war with Germany, and as there is no possibility of it being able to negotiate a separate treaty of peace during the next six months this condition will exist at least until 1921.

While it is unfortunate that so important an instrument is to become an object of partisan conflict in the United States it is possible that after the electorate has had its say the outlook will be clearer. The delay, of course, will retard the recovery of continental Europe from the war and therefore will prolong the period of uncertainty and worse through which that continent is passing, but we venture to prophesy that this will ultimately react upon the republic itself in a way which will astonish those Senators who still cling to the Jeffersonian doctrine of American detachment from the rest of the world.

Should that prediction be fulfilled, as it is almost certain to be, we are confident our neighbors will be quite ready to ratify the Treaty of Versailles or any other instrument calculated to assist Europe to its feet, and we shall not hear of many reservations. Meanwhile, it remains for the signatories of the Treaty to proceed with its application and with the settlement of the various unsolved questions according to their own judgment of what is right.

MR. LLOYD GEORGE'S ADVENTURE.

During the last eighteen months industrial Britain has experienced a type of social and industrial nightmare that would have struck more than a terror into the heart of the nation prior to 1914. The reaction of war let loose a crop of the most sinister crises that the stolid Briton has ever been called upon to face. How calamity was avoided always may appear a miracle, although the student of national sentiment through the evolutionary period of Trades Unionism will have little hesitation in ascribing the escape from disaster as due to the sound sense of the British workingman. As in other countries, however, the sudden reversal of social, economic and industrial machinery from the pace dictated by war to that of normal times exacted its inevitable toll for the nonce.

But her day of crisis is not over. Great Britain's political pot has been stirred again by the Prime Minister's most recent manoeuvre. He apparently desires, to test his strength at the head of a political army composed of troops from two schools of thought as far apart as the poles. He has labelled his enemy "Socialism." The disappearance of "direct action" from the platform of Labor and the substitution of constitutional procedure do not seem to have impressed him with the bona fides of that party. Clearly his speech to his supporters on Thursday has placed a gulf between himself and Labor that may require more than the political sagacity of a Lloyd George to bridge before the world is much older.

At its best the Prime Minister's utterance is a challenge to such men as Henderson, Adamson, Thomas, Clynes and Barnes, whose reasoned judgment and suasion with the rank and file of the workers have prevented an industrial calamity on more than one occasion during the last year or more. Mr. Lloyd George has appealed for support at this stage to fight Labor because he considers it to be Socialism disguised. His speech of Thursday may have this result: It may make conditions propitious for class war, since it will align the Prime Minister and those who support him in direct opposition to Labor. Evidently he fancies he is strong enough, or that his support is strong enough to fight the responsible leaders of the Labor Party upon whom the country has relied and continues to rely to avert catastrophe.

"Direct action" was unpopular because it was a policy diametrically opposed to public sentiment; because there was evident a desire on the part of the Government to cure conditions as far as lay in its power. And having gone the limit of its capacity the country relied upon such men as Henderson, Thomas and Clynes to convince the sceptical worker that the country was sincere. But what must happen if that sympathetic co-operation, already many times demonstrated by the saner elements of Labor, is eliminated, as it must be if Mr. Lloyd George persists in his belief that he is called upon to throw down the gauntlet to the toilers at large? There can be no half-way house. The Prime Minister must realize that he has placed the Trades Union Congress on the defensive. Either it must bow to the little Welshman's dictum and virtually close shop, resolve itself into an innocuous body for mutual uplift—as instructed by the Government—or else it must co-ordinate its forces and fight for its very existence with every weapon it can command.

Much had been accomplished of late. The stings of the reactionary had been drawn. Great Britain was beginning to breathe more freely. Strikes and threats of strikes were less frequent. What the future holds is on the knees of the gods. Mr. Lloyd George is playing for high stakes. Has he counted the cost?

March is a bad month for countries threatened with revolutions. The German Government may yet discover that the murder of Liebknecht and Rosa Luxemburg gave the Spartacan movement more strength and prestige than anything else could have done. Liebknecht when alive, although imprisoned in a fortress, was so powerful that the Great General Staff during the war did not dare to execute him. Liebknecht dead may be an even more formidable menace to the present Government.

We trust the status of the old Gorge Bridge will be settled soon so that the necessary repairs may be begun in sufficient time to put the structure in condition to stand the strain which will be imposed upon it by the crowds during the Hudson's Bay Company pageant next May.

THE NEW POOR (The Manchester Guardian)

Towards the end of the war the French invented the phrase which we have more recently adopted and translated as "the new poor." There are more of them in France than in this country, and it says a good deal for the finer side of the French spirit that the phrase should have been fathered by it—there are worse gestures in the face of misfortune than that of the refugee who turns his back on a broken villa miles on the wrong side of the trenches and, with a shrug of the shoulders, enrols himself as a member of the "nouveaux pauvres." In this country there are no devastated areas to complicate the difficulties of a stationary income and a dwindling pound, but the new poor are certainly with us. They are even beginning to give themselves one or two airs and to take a published pride in their standing.

Large sections of Germany are resounding to the rattle of machine guns and rifle fire in the civil warfare which so far since the beginning of the Berlin revolt last Saturday is estimated by some Berlin commentators to have cost 2,000 lives.

The industrial district in the Rhine-land appears to be the strong-hold of the ultra-extremist forces, which are reported to have captured Essen, the home of the Krupp plant, the important industrial centres of Dusseldorf and Elberfeld and other towns in this region.

For an Advance. Advices from Cologne reflect worriment by the Allies over the situation in the Rhine district, close to the occupied areas. One report, which is unconfirmed, declares there are indications that they are preparing to advance farther into Germany if the situation does not improve. In Leipzig the Ebert forces appear to be regaining control after a bloody conflict. At Kiel, where the workers recently gained control, conditions are declared quiet for the moment.

Cruisers Seized. Hamburg, March 19.—(Via London, March 20).—The German cruisers Schwarzburg, Regensburg and Wittelsbach were taken possession of at Kiel without bloodshed this morning by sailors at the naval station after the Government troops at the station had been disarmed, according to reports from Kiel received here. The officers of the cruisers were deposited and the white flag was hoisted over the vessels. The captain of the Wittelsbach, the reports add, committed suicide by shooting.

is ready the first effort will be made by Victoria to talk with San Francisco by wireless. This will be the first long distance experiment on this coast and the first of any kind in Canada. It will likely be made early next week.

Precocious Amateurs. Amateur wireless operators for hundreds of miles around Victoria were on the qui vive when music and speeches were being shot out into the ether from the Pemberton Building. The streams of talk and music were picked up quite easily by many and some who have transmitters began to talk back.

One amateur was particularly successful, receiving a note until the wireless scientists wanted to know where his station was in order to learn the success of their experiments.

Inventor Arrested. "Who are you?" spoke Mr. Golden into the wireless transmitter. "I won't tell you, because they'll have me pinched for having constructed a wireless station and taking over it," came the reply from the amplifier.

Mr. Haughton was in the room at the time and told the mysterious operator that he was the superintendent of wireless and that it would be safe for him to reveal his identity. But when he heard that the superintendent was in on it he switched off with a jerk. It was learned to-day that this successful wireless operator has his plant within about two miles of the Pemberton Building. There will be no experiments to-night. There will be lots of talking, however, on Monday night starting at 8 o'clock.

Floyd, two years in Leavenworth and $5,000 fine; William J. Mickel, two years; Allen A. Templeton, one year and six months; Roger M. On Bonds. Judge Sessions announced he would allow the defence ninety days in which to perfect an appeal and meanwhile would release the convicted men on bonds.

"The fight has only begun," said Chief Counsel Murrin, of the defence, and his thought was echoed by Martin W. Littleton, of New York. The eastern attorney added that the finding had been "a great shock" to him.

Investigation. Washington, March 20.—Conviction of Senator Newberry by the Grand Rapids jury does not invalidate his seat in the Senate, Republican leaders said to-day. He will be entitled to return to office, they declared, until the Senate itself acts on the charges filed by his opponent, Henry Ford. A sub-committee of the Elections Committee, headed by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, now is awaiting a conference with counsel for Newberry and Ford regarding procedure in the Senate investigation of the charges.

Whether Senator Newberry, in view of his conviction will continue his duties in the Senate pending a final decision of his case by the courts is a matter for his own discretion, Senators said. Senate leaders have been advised by Mr. Newberry that in event of conviction he would carry an appeal to the United States Supreme Court, if necessary.

Determined. Grand Rapids, Mich., March 20.—Senator Newberry, sentenced to prison, announced this afternoon he would "continue to represent in the United States Senate the people who elected me."

DROP YOUR SWORD BEFORE BALLOTING

Elections Act Provision Is Reminder of Old Hustings Days

Legislative Press Gallery, March 19.
Eighty-nine sections of the Provincial Elections Act were considered this afternoon and, with the exception of a little more than a dozen of the more contentious clauses, were disposed of.

Under the provisions of the old Act one separate polling booth does justice for three hundred voters and no change had been made before its inclusion in the present measure. The Leader of the Opposition suggested that the word "two hundred" be substituted for the larger number because of the additional work that would devolve upon clerks in the operation of that clause in the new bill which requires the comparison or signatures. The section was stood over and very probably will be amended in conformity with Mr. Bowser's suggestion.

Expert Advice
Typical of the minute examination to which each section of the measure is being subjected was the discussion on the clause requiring the stamping of ballot papers with the official secret mark. Suggesting the additional safeguard of each envelope being initialed by the voter himself, Mr. Bowser raised the point for discussion. The Premier observed that the idea of the official stamp had been considered from the point of view that by the use of ink of a particular kind any attempt at "steaming" an envelope would cause the ink to "run" and reveal the evidence of tampering at once.

The "Mickey"
One of the purely legal sections of the new bill demands the surrender to the Returning Officer of his deputy on request any offensive weapon, such as firearms, swords, staves, or bludgeons, with which any such person may be armed. The Leader of the Opposition inquired as to whether the "mickey" might be included in this provision. Mr. Oliver replied that it might well include the "brute majority."

On arrival at the clause providing for penalties for personation the member for Esquimalt did not like the idea of no stipulated minimum fine. The omission, apparently, was an accidental one as other clauses provide for both maximum and minimum. The clause was stood over.

The new measure similarly provides that the expenses of transporting voters to and from polling places within the electoral district shall be paid, but such payment is not allowed in respect of transportation from one electoral district to another.

Legalizing It
Mr. Bowser was somewhat surprised to see the provision and inquired whether the old Act contained it. The Premier replied that it was a new section designed to legalize a practice indulged in by all parties hitherto without any statutory authority. The committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again.

LARGER HERDS ARE TUBERCULIN IMMUNE

Minister of Agriculture Says Compulsory Insurance For Cattle Probable Later

Legislative Press Gallery, March 19.

Assuring the House that the irreducible minimum in connection with tuberculin testing in dairy cattle had nearly been reached, Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, this afternoon explained away some of the worries of different members with regard to testing for contagious diseases.

R. H. Pooley advocated some form of compulsory insurance among dairymen and was supported in this by David Whiteside, the latter contending that another 12 months without this step being taken.

Mr. Barrow assured these members that the Dairymen's Associations were gathering the necessary data and that next year legislation would be enacted. He said the larger herds were practically immune. This was through inspection, treatment and proper care, and it was only the small owner who was greatly affected.

The Minister explained that the amendments to the act were for the purpose of further protecting the general public.

TO STRAIGHTEN OUT ENGINEERS' BILL IN COMMITTEE STAGE

Legislative Press Gallery, March 19.

No objection to the Engineers' bill being passed on to the committee stage was voiced in the Legislature this afternoon, although several speakers spoke either in support or against the general principles of the proposed measure.

J. W. West, Government member for South Vancouver, said he was inclined to agree with the member for Kamloops in the latter's contention that due consideration had not been given the bill by the Premier. He felt, however, that objections would be straightened out in committee. The bill was therefore given its second reading and will be committed at the next sitting of the House.

Colwood Women's Institute.—Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Provincial Director of the Home Branch Soldiers' Settlement Board, gave a particularly interesting address on her work among the wives of the returned soldiers, on Wednesday, March 17, to the members of the Colwood Women's Institute. She showed the great need and importance of the work of helping and welcoming these new comers to Canada especially when so many are living in the sparsely populated districts with few neighbors, and asked that the members of the Institute should do all in their power to give them welcome. At the conclusion a very hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Gordon was passed by the members.

LADY RAMSAY IS PATRON OF LOCAL ART INSTITUTE

Prof. Bryce Tells Members of Animal Life in Western Canada

Lady Patricia Ramsay, formerly known as Princess Patricia, is to become the patron of the Provincial Arts and Industries Institute of B. C. Lady Ramsay has written to this effect to John Forsythe, Provincial Librarian, who discussed the whole art situation closely with her when she was here.

The Princess was here in 1912 with her father, the Duke of Connaught, who laid the cornerstone of the Provincial Library. At that time she told Mr. Forsythe and others that she would like to see a society established in Victoria. Now that this has been established she has consented to the request of Mr. Forsythe and become patron.

Besides holding the office of patron it is likely that Lady Ramsay will send out some of her paintings, as she is said to be quite an artist.

Plea for Animal Life. Professor George Bryce, of the University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, and a member of the Royal Society of Canada, spoke on fundamental facts before members of the Provincial Arts and Industries Institute in the Provincial Library last night.

He made a plea for the conservation of animal life in a state of nature and urged that boys and girls of city schools should make a greater use of the Provincial Museum, where they can study the most of the animal forms of the Province.

He went into fox farming problems and declared that although the bill made on the Coast and in the southern part of B. C. was too mild for the production of good furs, it is quite possible that foxes might flourish in the north.

Referring to the extinction of the buffalo in the Canadian West, Professor Bryce told of the days of wild slaughter when he used to go out and buy three buffalo skins for $14.

Mr. Forsythe, who presided, told of the fame of Prof. Bryce and explained how he had been instrumental in bringing to Canada the British Association for the Advancement of Science which stimulated world interest in this country.

BIG GIFT OF SHEETS FOR ST. JOSEPH'S

Annual Linen Shower at Hospital Yesterday Delightful Function

One hundred and seventy pairs of sheets, several beds of linens and cash donations of substantial amount was the very welcome harvest gathered in at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday afternoon when the institution held its annual linen shower. The formal presentation of the linen was made by Mrs. Walter Fraser on behalf of the many friends of the institution she said:

"My Dear Sister Superior and Sisters: It is with real pleasure that I today offer you on behalf of your many friends this gift of sheets. Your great and noble work goes on from year to year, quietly and without ostentation. Yet with those of us who have lived here for many years, there are all indications of loved ones under your care, know of your selfless devotion to the sick, and that even the poorest and lowliest money cannot buy, and it is with the desire of co-operating with you and expressing our sympathy in your unselfish zeal for the welfare of Christ's suffering members that we make this love-offering to-day."

"We also wish to congratulate you on the spirit of progress that marks your work."

"The Children's Ward, with its dainty appointments, the increased facilities for X-Ray work, and last, but not least, the record department which you have recently installed. These are all indications of a determination to keep St. Joseph's Hospital abreast of the times. We hope your good work may continue to prosper, and that you may be spared for many years to bring health and comfort to the sick and suffering."

Charming Decorations. In gratefully accepting the gift on behalf of the hospital, the Sister Superior referred to the presence in the gathering of some of the very old friends of the institution, Miss Meyer, who had acted as convener of the affair for the past ten years; Sister Mary Bridget, and members of the family of Dr. J. S. Helmecken, who founded the hospital.

The nurses' reception room and the main corridor of the lower floor were charmingly decorated with ivy, broom, Oregon grape and daffodils, while the tea table at which Mrs. Harry Currie, Mrs. E. G. Prior, were presided, was artistically arranged with a centre-piece of daffodils and violets. The visitors, among whom were Mrs. E. G. Prior, were welcomed on arrival by a reception

NEW ELECTIONS ACT CLAUSES DISCUSSED

Women's Independent Political Association Discuss Matters of Topical Interest

After considerable discussion in which the pros and cons of the matter were very exhaustively dealt with, the Women's Independent Political Association last night endorsed the letter of protest against the proposed enfranchisement of Japanese ex-soldier residents in British Columbia, which is being sent by the leading women's organizations to the legislature and a copy of which appeared in these columns on Thursday evening. The meeting was held in the Victoria Club, with Mrs. Gordon Grant in the chair, and a somewhat small audience, including members of the general public, in attendance.

An Act of Justice. The resolution calling for the endorsement of the letter and sponsored by Mrs. H. P. Hodges was strongly opposed by Mrs. Grace Johnston, who appealed to the women to remember that the Japanese in question—one hundred and forty-three in number—had fought for British Columbia and the Empire, and their loyalty and self-sacrifice entitled them to the highest rights of citizenship. "If they are good enough to fight for this country, they should be good enough to vote for it," she claimed in an impassioned appeal. The speaker was ably supported by a male member of the audience.

In opposing the proposed amendment to the Elections Act, Mrs. Hodges took exception to the proposal to enfranchise men of an Oriental race, while the British Columbia Indians and Hindus, who were British subjects and had, many of them, shared equally in the fighting for the Empire were excluded from the privileges of citizenship. The discussion was warmly taken up by other members of the audience, culminating in the endorsement of the letter of protest.

Women Voters in Rural Centres. A plea that the Municipal Act be amended so that a husband and wife might have the right to vote on the one assessment was made by Mrs. Henderson, of Duncan, who cited the difficulties encountered in the rural districts where the property qualifications debarred many otherwise eligible women from voting or holding office in such bodies as the School Board. She pointed out that women property-holders were rarely met with in the farming communities, the farms being invariably held in the husband's name. Mrs. Henderson suggested that the time was ripe for the passing of legislation

For Women and The Home

WOULD-BE HOUSEKEEPERS BESIEGED PREMIER'S HOUSE

By Helena Thomas

Here in England great numbers of women are out of employment, and even in offices where the gentler sex are employed feeling against them has run so high that the girls have formed a union to combine against the "enemy"—man. "Whitehall Flappers" are taboo, and Waacs are not welcomed in business circles. The good work these women of England did is forgotten, and all most folks remember are the harum-scarum antics of the few, the remembrance of which is spoiling the prospects of the many.

Miss Dorothy Evans, the secretary of the Federation of Women Clerks, who wanted to fly to Paris to draw attention to the wholesale dismissals of women in Government departments by interviewing Mr. Lloyd George there, was informed at No. 10 Downing Street that "the Prime Minister says that there can't be very much in this talk of women finding it hard to get employment. He has been trying for some time to get a housekeeper for No. 10, and he can't find anyone who wants the situation."

Then the fun started. Miss Evans phoned every employment bureau in London, and at all through the next day housekeepers thronged the narrow approach to historic No. 10. Not "as single spies but in battalions" they came; old and young, fat and thin, tall and short, married and single, they came; some in shabby garments, others in expensive furs, and every one of them ready and more than willing to be housekeeper to "wee Davey," as I overheard one damsel say.

It's a dark secret who was engaged for the provably popular post, but inside No. 10 a desperate secretary was sending out a desperate "S.O.S." to every employment bureau he could think of: "Send no more, please send no more; the post is filled."

But the Prime Minister won't make any more rash statements about the women's labor market for a while.

DELICIOUS PRESERVES TO TEMPT THE PALATE

At this season of the year the wise housewife makes a supply of those marmalades that always make the tiny hot tea biscuits melt in one's mouth or add to the palatability of the dainty cracker. Candied peel is a delicious and inexpensive sweetmeat to make use of at this informal occasion.

The recipes that follow give the simplest formulas for making a few of these things. Try them and you will find them very delicious.

Amber Marmalade.
Select one grapefruit, one orange and one lemon. Scrub them well and slice very thin using all the skins and removing the seeds. To one cupful of the fruit (juice, pulp and skin) use three cupfuls of cold water. Let stand covered for twenty-four hours; then boil for ten minutes. Again let stand for twenty-four hours; measure and add one cupful of sugar for each cupful of the fruit mixture. Boil until it "jellies" when tried on a cold plate. This quantity makes twelve glasses.

Bitter Orange Marmalade.
(A Duesdee Recipe.)
Use any desired number of small oranges and allow one lemon for every four oranges used. Cut the fruit in the same manner as the amber marmalade, and save the seeds. Let these soak in cold water to cover overnight and then let cook for an hour the following morning. Use the water drained from the seeds in making the marmalade. Allow three pints of water for each pound of fruit pulp.

Let the fruit and water stand for twenty-four hours and simmer until the peel is very tender, generally about five hours and a half. Again let stand for twenty-four hours; use equal proportions of heated sugar and fruit pulp and cook to 215 degrees Fahrenheit. It should jelly quickly after the sugar is added.

Candied Grapefruit and Orange Peel.
Take the peel from the fruit quarters, and then cut it into strips. Soak in salted water over night, using three-quarters of a tablespoonful of salt to three pints of cold water. Weigh the peel before soaking and allow an equal quantity of granulated sugar. In the morning, drain, wash thoroughly, cover with fresh cold water and simmer gently until the peel is very tender. Let it stand in the water in which it has soaked overnight.

Prepare the syrup from a scant pint of water to a pound of sugar and cook for ten minutes, then put in the peel and let simmer until the peel is clear and the syrup almost absorbed. Take out the pieces, roll in granulated sugar and set on paraffine paper to dry. Lemon peel may be prepared in the same manner.

TO CLEAN WALLPAPER.

Cut into eight half-quarters a stale loaf. With one or two pieces, after having blown off all the dust from the paper by means of a pair of bellows (if handy), begin at the top of the room, holding the crust in the one hand and wiping lightly downward with the crumb about half a yard at each sweep. The upper part is completely cleaned all around, then go around with the like sweeping stroke downward, always commencing each successive course a little higher than the upper stroke had extended till the bottom is finished. This operation, if carefully performed, will frequently make very old paper look almost equal to new. Great caution must be used not to rub paper hard nor to attempt cleaning it the cross or horizontal way. The dirty part of the bread, too, must each time be cut away and pieces renewed as soon as at all necessary.

ABOUT WEDGWOOD.

From the earliest times rude vessels of burnt clay were used to hold food, and though the potter's wheel and effective methods of glazing earthenware have produced china beautiful beyond description, the common clay crock and bowl are still precious possessions in the collection of our every day utensils. The greatest maker of earthenware in England was Josiah Wedgwood, who made "The Potteries," a strip of clay, barrows six by eight inches long, produce wares famous throughout the civilized world. The quality of the clay used decides the kind of pottery, stone china, or fine china that will be produced. The red pottery of which crocks, pans, casseroles, marmalade and such work-a-day dishes are made is common brick clay. It is often glazed with litharge of lead ground with the clay. This glass is almost transparent and the rich colors of the clay show through handsomely. The lead, however, has been found to cause intestinal poisoning when acid foods have been kept in these convenient containers so that safe glazed ware is more in demand. In some countries lead glazed vessels may not be sold for household use. The salt glaze is produced by throwing coarse salt into the kiln during firing.

Salt thrown on a coal fire which is low will revive it.

Helen Keller, Blind, Making Up for Vaudeville

No mirror adorned the dressing room of Helen Keller, regarded by many as the world's most wonderful woman—though totally blind, she has achieved fame in spite of the additional handicaps of being deaf and dumb. She is shown making up for her part in the Palace Theatre in New York, where she is starring this week.

MAGIC LANTERNS.

The first references to a magic lantern is generally believed to be that made by one Athanasius Kircher, in his book published in 1646. In 1855 a "learned Dane" exhibited such a lantern, which was doubtless much like the modern one. The first magic lanterns were made in England by Philip Carpenter in 1806, but that it is much more recently than that that the lantern has been sufficiently improved to be such a valuable help to teachers in the classroom.

TIMELY TIPS

Chopped prunes are a good substitute for raisins.

Whipped cream will remain stiff if it is whipped into one half pint of one teaspoonful of dissolved gelatine whipping cream.

Oleomargarine and storage eggs cannot be tasted in cake if all the other materials are first class and the cake is well flavored.

Left over stewed tomato makes other left-overs very palatable. Made into a sweet sauce with a little onion and white sauce added, it is good over casserole dishes, patties, fish or rice croquettes, hash, hamburger or mock chops.

A baking powder can makes a good utensil with which to dice cold boiled potatoes.

Left over canned pineapple will retain its fresh taste for another meal if put back immediately into an airtight glass jar. Left in an open dish pineapples acquires a peculiar stale taste.

The juice from canned peaches or apricots makes a delicious sauce for corn starch or blancmange pudding.

Good Winter salad combinations are pineapple, bananas and nuts, apples, celery and nuts, cheese, dates and lettuce, cabbage and celery, beets, carrots and potatoes, lettuce and cross and oranges, nuts and coconut.

Steam puddings will conserve fuel if cooked over a boiled dinner. Among the good steamed puddings are apple dumplings, rice and fruit timbales and Troy pudding.

MOCK FOWL

Take a round steak one-quarter inch thick. Cut in pieces about four inches wide and six inches long. Lay on each piece a slice of bacon and a teaspoonful of minced onion and season with pepper and salt. Roll each piece up and tie with stout string. Have an iron kettle or very deep saucepan hot and well greased. Drop the "birds" in to brown. When well browned add enough hot water to keep them from sticking. Cover

PARIS WEARS CLOTH SHOES.

On account of the high cost of leather in France, French women are now wearing sandals and slippers on the boulevards. Those of the better classes, though, are wearing shoes, the tops of which are made of Oriental cloth, which is worked up into very pretty designs. The photograph shows a pair of the cloth covered shoes.

POLISHING FAUCETS.

For cleaning brass faucets, lemon and salt have been widely recommended. A bright polish does result. But unless the acid is followed by a rub with sweet oil, verdigris forms in all the moldings. Better than acids is rotten stone and oil, if the brass is very dark; or any one of several brass polishes; or a chemically treated brass polishing cloth. Brass cleaned with ammonia, tarnishes again much more quickly than if polished by friction.

For Women and The Home

WOULD-BE HOUSEKEEPERS BESIEGED PREMIER'S HOUSE

By Helena Thomas

Here in England great numbers of women are out of employment, and even in offices where the gentler sex are employed feeling against them has run so high that the girls have formed a union to combine against the "enemy"—man. "Whitehall Flappers" are taboo, and Waacs are not welcomed in business circles. The good work these women of England did is forgotten, and all most folks remember are the harum-scarum antics of the few, the remembrance of which is spoiling the prospects of the many.

Miss Dorothy Evans, the secretary of the Federation of Women Clerks, who wanted to fly to Paris to draw attention to the wholesale dismissals of women in Government departments by interviewing Mr. Lloyd George there, was informed at No. 10 Downing Street that "the Prime Minister says that there can't be very much in this talk of women finding it hard to get employment. He has been trying for some time to get a housekeeper for No. 10, and he can't find anyone who wants the situation."

Then the fun started. Miss Evans phoned every employment bureau in London, and all through the next day housekeepers thronged the narrow approach to historic No. 10. Not "as single spies but in battalions" they came; old and young, fat and thin, tall and short, married and single, they came; some in shabby garments, others in expensive furs, and every one of them ready and more than willing to be housekeeper to "wee Davey," as I overheard one dame say.

It's a dark secret who was engaged for the proverbial post, but inside No. 10 a desperate secretary was sending out a desperate "S.O.S." to every employment bureau he could think of: "Send no more, please send no more; the post is filled."

But the Prime Minister won't make any more rash statements about the women's labor market for a while.

Helen Keller, Blind, Making Up for Vaudeville

No mirror adorned the dressing room of Helen Keller, regarded by many as the world's most wonderful woman—though totally blind, she has achieved fame in spite of the additional handicaps of being deaf and dumb. She is shown making up for her part in the Palace Theatre in New York, where she is starring this week.

DELICIOUS PRESERVES TO TEMPT THE PALATE

At this season of the year the wise housewife makes a supply of those marmalades that always make the tiny hot tea biscuits melt in one's mouth or add to the palatability of the dainty cracker. Candied peel is a delicious and inexpensive sweetmeat to make use of at this informal occasion.

The recipes that follow give the simplest formulas for making a few of these things. Try them and you will find them very delicious.

Amber Marmalade.
Select one grapefruit, one orange and one lemon. Scrub them well and slice very thin using all the rind and removing the seeds. In a cupful of water (juice, pulp and skin) use three cupfuls of cold water. Let stand covered for twenty-four hours; then boil for ten minutes. Again let stand for one cupful of sugar for each cupful of the fruit mixture. Boil until it "jellies" when tried on a glass plate. This quantity makes twelve glasses.

Bitter Orange Marmalade.
(A Dundee Recipe.)
Use any desired number of small oranges and allow one lemon for every four oranges used. Cut the fruit in the same manner as for the amber marmalade, and save the seeds. Let these soak in cold water to cover overnight and then let cook for an hour the following morning. Use the water drained from the seeds in making the marmalade. Allow three pints of water for each pound of fruit pulp.

Let the fruit and water stand for twenty-four hours and simmer until the peel is very tender, generally about five hours and a half. Again let stand for twenty-four hours; use equal proportions of heated sugar and fruit pulp and cook to 215 degrees Fahrenheit. It should jelly quickly after the sugar is added.

Candied Grapefruit and Orange Peel.
Take the peel from the fruit quarters, and then cut it into strips. Soak in salted water overnight, using three-quarters of a tablespoonful of salt to three pints of cold water. Weigh the peel before soaking and allow an equal quantity of granulated sugar. In the morning, drain, wash thoroughly, cover with fresh cold water and simmer gently until the peel is very tender. Let it stand in the water in which it has soaked overnight.

Prepare the syrup from a scant pint of water to a pound of sugar and cook for ten minutes, then put in the peel and let simmer until the peel is clear and the syrup almost absorbed. Take out the pieces, roll in granulated sugar and set on paraffine paper to dry. Lemon peel may be prepared in the same manner.

TO CLEAN WALLPAPER.

Cut into eight half-quarters a stale loaf. With one or two pieces, after having blown off all the dust from the paper by means of a pair of bellows (if handy) begin at the top of the room, holding the crust in the one hand and wiping lightly downward with the crumb about half a yard at each sweep. Clean all upper part is completely cleaned all around, then go around with the like sweeping stroke downward, always commencing each successive course a little higher than the upper stroke had extended till the bottom is finished. This operation, if carefully performed, will frequently make very old paper look almost equal to new. Great caution must be used not to rub paper hard nor to attempt cleaning it the cross or horizontal way. The dirty part of the bread, too, must each time be cut away and pieces renewed as soon as at all necessary.

ABOUT WEDGWOOD.

From the earliest times rude vessels of burnt clay were used to hold food, and though the potter's wheel and effective methods of glazing earthenware have produced china beautiful beyond description, the common clay crock and bowl are still precious possessions in the collection of our every day utensils.

The greatest maker of earthenware in England was Josiah Wedgwood, who made "The Potteries," a strip of clay bars six by eight inches long, produce wares famous throughout the civilized world. The quality of the clay used decides the kind of pottery, stone china, or fine china that will be produced. The red pottery of which crocks, pans, casseroles, marmalade and such work-a-day dishes are made is common brick clay. It is often glazed with litharge of lead ground with the clay. This glass is almost transparent and the rich colors of the clay show through handsomely. The lead, however, has been found to cause intestinal poisoning when acid foods have been kept in these conveniences so that sale glazed ware is more in demand. In some countries lead glazed vessels may not be sold for household use. The salt glaze is produced by throwing coarse salt into the kiln during firing.

Salt thrown on a coal fire which is low will revive it.

DISCUSSED HIGH PRICES OF LUMBER

Ottawa, March 20.—That the Dominion Government, while anxious to consider any suggestion that might help the situation, is practically helpless in the matter of bringing the present high cost of lumber down, was indicated yesterday afternoon following a conference between a score or more of Western members and Sir George Foster, Acting Prime Minister.

Several suggestions of very minor importance were discussed, but none of them were believed feasible. One that might have been taken up was that the Government assist smaller mills to increase their output, but it was pointed out that all such mills at this time might have laid out their logging plans and would not be in a position to increase their capacity at least for another twelve months.

It was declared that there is approximately $20,000,000 available for investment in building in Western Canada alone this year if sufficient lumber could be got at reasonable cost. But nobody will attempt to do anything while the prices are so high, said a member of the delegation.

Mark Sheldon Points to Crying Need of People in Australia

New York, March 20.—"We have a population of 5,000,000, and our savings banks have individual accounts totaling $2,500,000. The average account in our savings banks is $200," said Mark Sheldon, High Commissioner in the United States for Australia, to members of the Bond Club at their monthly luncheon at the Bankers' Club. "We have a population of about 5,000,000," he said, "and we could find employment almost over night for another 10,000,000. The resources of Australia hardly have been scratched, and if we had the additional population our production would go up tremendously and, incidentally, it would do much toward re-establishing sterling exchange at something close to parity within a very short time."

Financial Situation
The greater portion of his address had to do with the financial situation. The Australian public debt, federal and state, before the war, he explained, was about $2,900,000,000. To this has been added approximately $1,750,000,000 of war debt in the last four or five years. Upwards of ninety per cent. of the pre-war debt represents money borrowed for the building of public utilities, such as railroads, water supply, docks, etc., and this is not only self-supporting but furnishes a surplus revenue which goes to help defray the ordinary cost of Government administration. Thus, the apparently huge public debt, compared to the small population, has been handled in an economical and efficient manner.

Low Interest on Public Debt
His hearers, all bond men, were surprised when he told them that the average rate of interest paid by Australia on its public debt was less than four per cent. The pre-war debt averaged considerably less than this figure, and despite the fact that the war bonds have paid between four and a half and five per cent, the average is still under four per cent.

Nearly Normal
In Australia, the speaker continued, conditions are more nearly normal than in most other parts of the world. The cost of living has not mounted there the way it has in some other places, and this Mr. Sheldon said was due to two reasons: First, because there was little, if any, currency inflation; and second, because Australia produces most of the necessities of life and, despite tremendous exports, always has managed to keep enough for home consumption. Speaking of Australia's currency, he said that at the present time there were outstanding about $55,000,000 currency notes, against which is held forty-four per cent. gold cover.

Stock Exchange Dealings
Chief dealings on Australian Stock Exchanges are in bank stocks. There are about twenty large banks there, and all have their shares listed on the open markets. A feature of these banks, Mr. Sheldon pointed out, is that their shares are very widely distributed, with no large controlling interests existing. The banking system is modelled after that of Great Britain, with a few large banks having many branches all over the continent. By careful administration and through reduced costs of operation, he said, the banks are able to transact business on a narrow margin of profit. Formerly this was about 1 per cent. Now it is about 1 1/2 per cent.

Foreign Exchange Situation
The foreign exchange situation, Mr. Sheldon said, was not a paramount factor in Australia. Virtually all Australian business with the world is cleared through London, and for this reason the exchange follows sterling. The heavy discount on sterling through this operation, has forced, and is forcing, the dominions to trade within the empire, and this fact ultimately will tend to force sterling back to its pre-war levels, in the opinion of the Australian High Commissioner.

Look for Development
Certain American representatives are here trying to establish a triangular trade arrangement. The scheme is to have the Poles send Sweden oil, wood and sugar; the United States in turn, however, to send raw cotton, machinery, and leather to Poland, accepting payment from Sweden.

The scheme appeals to patriotic Poles much more than the idea of dealing with Germany, especially cotton or leather obtained from Germany would have come initially from the United States.

Textile District
Production in the Lodz textile district is approximately 35 per cent normal, but this cannot be maintained unless more raw cotton is procured. Poland has large supplies of mushrooms, hogs' bristles for brushes, animal hair and wicker reeds for baskets, but their value would be but a drop in the bucket compared with that of the material needed here.

GREAT NEED OF MARKETS IN POLAND
Russian Trade Lost, Textile Industry Is Seriously Affected

Warsaw, March 20.—A Polish commission has been investigating British and American offers to supply Poland with English petroleum, wood, even sugar, but what she would require in return would be raw cotton, textile machinery and leather. These surplus quantities and consequently a workable basis of exchange has not been in situation works out in reference to the United States, with the whole problem made acute and difficult by the steady decline of the Polish money.

SONS OF ENGLAND UNVEILED TABLET
Fine Concert Centres About Lodge Ceremony on Thursday

One of the loveliest concerts of the season centred about the unveiling of the memorial tablet to the members of Lodge Alexandra 116, Sons of England Benefit Society who served overseas, an event which took place at the A. O. F. Hall, on Thursday.

The opening address was delivered by Brother George Jay who recalled that 7,000 members of the Sons of England who fought overseas were kept in good standing by their lodges, that 800 members had been killed at the front and that $12,775.00 had been paid to their wives and dependents.

The memorial tablet including 70 names was unveiled by Brother George Millett, who is a veteran of the Indian Mutiny. Following the unveiling the last post was played by Brother Green in memory of Brothers George W. Bailey, Percy Chant, Evelyn Dingie, John S. Hibberd, Percy N. James, G. Thwaites, W. W. White and M. Wilkinson, all members of the Lodge who paid the supreme sacrifice.

The closing prayer was voiced by Rev. F. A. P. Chadwick and the Recessional was sung by Mrs. T. Hall accompanied by Master V. Smith.

A presentation was made to Brother W. T. Thorne for his services on the Roll of Honor and a vote of thanks passed to the members of the Lodge and the committee which had charge of the work.

A presentation also was made to Brother Millett, who for twenty-seven years has been guard of the Lodge. The evening closed with a jolly informal dance and delightful refreshments.

The programme of songs and recitations was as follows: Sgt. Ingledew, "Drink to the Glass and Health, Wealth, and the Girl I Love," and child impersonation; Mrs. Baker, "Emet's Cockoo" and "My Laddie"; Brother Blair, "Parson's Song" and "I Like It"; Master V. So carefully made, they cost the dealer more than the mints that masquerade in Life Saver-ish packages. Yet they cost you no more. Insist on genuine Life Savers. Four wholesome flavors, 5c.

NAVY LEAGUERS
UNIVERSAL TILT
 Strenuous Opposition Lodged Against Clause in By-laws Submitted
 Opposition to Clause 3, Section C in the revised bylaws of the organization kindled a verbal tilt at the adjourned annual meeting of the Victoria branch of the Navy League of Canada last night.
 The offending clause was: "They shall have power to engage, pay, and dismiss the secretary and treasurer of the Victoria Branch, the Port Missionary, and any other officials, and approve or disapprove, of any and all expenditures. Provided, however, that no change shall be made in the appointment of the Port Missionary without the consent of the Institute Committee. They shall have the supervision of the work of all committees, and no committee shall have power to enter into any contract involving any expenditure without their sanction, except in cases where any sum of money has been appropriated to the committee for its work, said committee shall be entitled to disburse the sum without further reference to the Executive Committee, but shall send in to the chairman, monthly, accounts of their receipts and expenditures which shall be presented at the monthly meeting of the Executive Committee."
 Immediately the clause was read Rev. W. D. Spence jumped to his feet and declared that it was out of the province of the organization to dismiss the port missionary in view of the fact that he was the appointee of the British & Foreign Sailors' Society.
 Chairman H. J. Ravenhill replied that the Victoria Branch of the Navy League had always paid the port missionary's salary and in his opinion those that "paid the piper should call the tune."
 No Reflection Cast.
 It was specifically pointed out that no reflection was cast upon the work of T. Wright Hill, port missionary for the past eight years, who has performed splendid work since his appointment here. The clause was framed to take care of any contingency that might arise in the future. The status of the port missionary, however, appeared to be very vague. The debate was waxing hot when the chairman intervened with: "I don't see why this feeling should be introduced." "There is no suggestion that anything unfair." The chairman, however, was unable to clear up the question of the port missionary's status to the satisfaction of some of the members. "The Navy League," interjected Rev. Mr. Spence, "has no more control over the port missionary than I have." The clause presupposes that you have that right." Rev. A. de B. Owen moved that the ruling of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society be secured before action be taken. Rev. H. T. Archbold thought it was a great pity that the question had arisen. "We don't need any instructions. We know where we stand," he said.
 J. J. Shalcross thought it was improper that any statements should be made except through the accredited representative of the British and Foreign Sailors' Society.
 Struck Out.
 Finally the suggestion by A. D. Crease that all reference to the port missionary be struck out of the by-laws and that the ruling of the parent body be secured, was adopted unanimously.
 Another snag was struck with the reading of section 8 by the secretary. It had to do with the question of the associate and junior members' fees, and words were inserted in the clause to indicate that the associate and junior members should not be entitled to vote.
 Election of Officers.
 The officers and committees were elected en bloc as follows:
 Honorary Chairman, Capt. J. W. Troup; Honorary Vice-Chairmen, Messrs. A. C. Flumerfelt, A. Coles, Mrs. Croft and Mrs. R. B. McMicking; Executive Committee—Chairman, H. J. Ravenhill; Vice-Chairman, J. D. O'Connell; Honorary Treasurer, H. J. Davis; A. D. Crease, Capt. C. H. Slingsby, R. N.; Brig.-Gen. R. P. Clark, D. S. O.; Mrs. Curtis Sampson, Regent; Mrs. C. O. West, Regent of Navy League Chapter, Langton.
 Boys' Naval Brigade—G. G. Bush-ree, Convener; Mrs. Gertrude Appleby, Capt. C. H. Slingsby, R. N.; S. Porter; C. O. Boys' Naval Brigade, member for Rotary Club, member from Kiwanis Club.
 Institute Committee—President, Rev. H. T. Archbold, Convener;

 Sir Wilfrid Laurier Memorial Fund to Close This Month
 The Liberals of the various Ward Associations of the City of Victoria are completing arrangements for their appropriate contribution to the Laurier Monument Fund.
 The subscription list was to have been closed on March 17, but owing to the peculiar circumstances, as to distance and transportation facilities, and the prevalence of the "flu" epidemic, which has militated against a very thorough canvass of the outlying sections of the Province, it will be well on towards the end of the month before Secretary J. E. Myers, of the British Columbia Liberal Association, who has charge of the collection of this fund in the Province, will be able to forward a complete account of the contribution from B. C. Liberals.
 Mr. Myers anticipates that when the fund is closed here, a very substantial contribution will be forwarded to Ottawa towards the cost of erecting the $100,000 monument as a memorial from the Liberals of Canada to their late chieftain.

 She had severe backache before using Dodd's Kidney Pills but now she says she is quite well again.
 Hastings, Ont., March 19th (Special).—Among the women in this section who are shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mrs. John Oakes, one of our highly respected residents. Nor does Mrs. Oakes fail to give the reason.
 "Before using Dodd's Kidney Pills," she states, "I suffered with severe backaches. Now I am quite well again.
 I am highly pleased with Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have given me the best of satisfaction."
 In those last two sentences Mrs. Oakes gives the reason why Dodd's Kidney Pills are so universally popular with the women of Canada. They give satisfaction. Women in all parts of Canada are every day saying that they suffered from kidney ailments and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.
 "If you haven't used Dodd's Kidney Pills ask your neighbors about them. They have been in use in Canada for more than a quarter of a century and have earned a place in every family medicine chest almost everywhere."

ELECTRICIANS BEAT INTERNATIONAL BODY
 Mr. Justice Macdonald Finds in Favor of Vancouver Local
 Vancouver, March 20.—Judgment has been given by Mr. Justice Macdonald in favor of the local union, No. 113, of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, in a consolidated action between the local and the international. The fight followed the revocation of the charter of the Vancouver body, numbering more than 600 members, by Canadian Justice Ernest Ingles, and an attempt on the part of the international to take over the books, money and assets of the local union. The city officers of the organization in this they were successful. The case is reported to be the first of its kind in Canada wherein a union fought with its governing body for the retention of its affiliation, and it has been closely followed in labor circles throughout the Dominion.
 The trial lasted fifteen days, the two actions being consolidated. The judgment of Mr. Justice Macdonald yesterday by Mr. Justice Macdonald are contained in thirty-two typewritten pages.
 In summing up his judgment Mr. Justice Macdonald restores the charter and membership privileges of the local union in the Brotherhood denies the right of the international body to attach and retain the property of the local, and grants an injunction restraining Vice-President Ingles from interfering with the charter.

BETHOVEN'S LOVE OF BEAUTY IN NATURE
 Like Brahms, Handel and Chopin, Beethoven never married, but he greatly admired beautiful women, and was always falling in love. His infatuation, however, never lasted long—seven months, in one case, being the limit according to Ries. Yet there is nothing superficial or ephemeral about his love of music, except in his songs, in which he was rarely at his best.
 Of his love of nature, the Pastoral Symphony is the eloquent witness, teaching the lesson that, with the exception of love for woman, there is no source of musical inspiration equal to it. Neate related that he had "never met a man who so rejoiced in nature, who so hugely enjoyed flowers and clouds as Beethoven did. Nature was his food as it were: it was the element he lived in. When taking his walks in a meadow near Vienna he would sit down on some inviting green and give himself up to his musings. In his note book he once wrote "It is as if every tree spoke to me Holy, holy! In the forest there is enchantment—who could express all this!"

SAANICH AND CITY SCHOOL TEAMS WIN WAY TO CUP FINAL

Victoria Beat Esquimalt 2-1; Saanich Beat Oak Bay in Overtime

Two close games were played in the first round of the Fragments Cup competition at Oak Bay yesterday, the Saanich and Victoria city soccer eleven beating the Oak Bay and Esquimalt eleven respectively. The Saanich and Oak Bay teams had to play ten minutes overtime before the former scored the winning goal and made the score 2-1. The Victoria eleven only managed to score the winning goal by both teams and at this period the score was two-one in the favor of Esquimalt, in the last few minutes of play.

There was a large turnout of spectators at the games. The Oak Bay v. Saanich game was evenly contested throughout and the class of football shown was very good for such young players. H. Goodacre opened the scoring for Oak Bay in the first half from a penalty kick, but a few minutes later, from a good pass from the right wing F. McGregor equalized. The second half was characterized by sterling defence work by both teams and at the end of their forwards just failed to materialize. Saanich thus won 2-1, and will play in the final against Victoria next Friday.

J. Stinson in goal and E. Knight played well for Saanich, while H. Goodacre, R. Miller and A. Powell starred for Oak Bay. P. C. Payne refereed the game.

Victoria v. Esquimalt.

The game between the Victoria and Esquimalt Schools was in doubt until the final whistle was blown. During the first half the play was in favor of the representatives of the city, while in the second half Esquimalt had the better of the game. At the end of the first half the score was 1-1. Price scoring for the city and Waddington for Esquimalt. A few minutes before the end Kenny scored the winning goal for the city.

This entitled the winners to play off with the winners of the Esquimalt district before the game in a very capable manner.

DEMPSEY AND KEARNS PLACED UNDER BONDS

Preliminary Hearing on Conspiracy Charge Set For April 3

San Francisco, March 20.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, and his manager, Jack Kearns, pleaded not guilty to-day before Judge Robert S. Bean in the United States district court when arraigned on charges of conspiracy to evade the selective draft act. Their preliminary hearing was set for April 3. The two appeared later before Francis Krull, United States Commissioner and furnished bonds, Dempsey for $2,000 and Kearns for $1,000. They were indicted by the federal grand jury February 27. One indictment accused them of conspiracy in preparing a false claim of dependency for Dempsey and a second charged Dempsey with evasion of the draft act.

Both declined to make any statements regarding the charges against them, referring questions to their counsel.

Dempsey and Kearns were neatly dressed and chewed gum vigorously during the proceedings.

The man who had put up at the cheap hotel tossed restlessly on the hard bed. "Humph!" he soliloquized. "I've often heard of bed rock, but I didn't know they made mattresses out of it."

AMATEUR HOCKEY TITLE AT STAKE

Allan Cup Holders Will Then Make Trip For Olympic Games

Toronto, March 20.—On March 29 the Canadian amateur hockey championship will be decided here and the successful hockey team will sail from St. John four days later for Belgium. The passage has been booked on the Melitta and it is expected that the Allan Cup holders will arrive in Brussels, where the Olympic series will be opening game.

W. A. Hewitt, secretary of the Ontario Hockey Association of Toronto, and the Olympic Committee representative, the Canadian Hockey Association, will accompany the team.

Eleven men, not counting Mr. Hewitt, will make the trip. Sagbury, Granites of Toronto, and Falcous of Winnipeg, three of the teams still in the running, have announced their willingness to represent Canada should they be successful in winning the championship.

University of Toronto have not stated their intentions. In case they will Allan Cup winners, the runners-up will be sent. It will be a team, not an all-star collection, that will carry Canada's colors at the Olympics.

Falcous requested that in case they are victorious, permission be granted them to make a flying visit to Winnipeg before setting sail, but this is impossible. The team, whether it be the champions, the runners-up, or the next in line will sail on the Melitta, May 2, 1920. There is no possibility of passage being secured on any other vessel. The Allan Cup receipts will be used to help defray the expenses of the champions.

TIMES PUCKCHASERS DEFEATED COLONIST

Waltzed Around Morning Paper Septette to Tune of Six-Nil

Smashing in shots at The Colonist net every two or three seconds in forty-five minutes' tearing play in the newspaper ice hockey classic, Colonist vs. Times, at the Arena last night, The Times newspaper men sagged the net at the rate of one every seven and a half minutes, and skated triumphantly but modestly off the ice with the score six to nothing in their favor.

There was just one moment when the morning newspaper men looked like coming anywhere near the evening paper septette, and that was when opening stations which went some where between ten and twenty minutes, Timekeeper Bowers, in his excitement losing track of the time, Haley Jackson, who ran a race for the individual scoring honors with Bruce Hutchison, working the right wing, opened the score, and right wing, opened the score, and for the first welcome rest with the only counter registered.

The last two frames were exciting, but always one-sided. But for the brilliant work of Veitch, who went on his knees and prayed for help every time the puck came in the direction of the net he was guarding, the Times would have piled up a cricket score. In spite of Veitch's resourcefulness, which included skilful handling of the puck across the goal mouth and even moving his cage from the range of fire, Hutchison and Haley Jackson in the mad scramble to top the honors list, continued to pile them up. They each got a well-earned tally in the second period. Hutchison saw the ball rolling in the last period and Haley got another brace.

In the last period the stamina and skill of the winning team enabled them to pile on the agony. Every player but the goalkeeper had the rubber sailing in Veitch's direction, while the diminutive Geiger, who showed over the goal rail, indulged in a little fancy skating between his blue line and the goal. In spite of Geiger himself also on one occasion took the puck and with more of his speed visible than anything else started a solo rush from his own end to the Colonist citadel. The heavyweight manager of The Times, Purser, was the ball rolling and secured the rubber until Geiger got back to his goal.

Clyde Macdonald, Archie Willis and pick-up players, who were in the front of Veitch and banged the puck in his direction. Two minutes were handed out during the fray by Referee Vic Gravin. Tim Matson, the greater part of which was spent gathering up the snow, was the first to be banished for three minutes, but eluded the eagle eye of the referee. He shaved sixty-eight seconds off the enforced rest period. Haley Jackson, the strategy and banished Haley for three minutes.

Alex Stewart was the most graceful skater on the ice, but had no chance to be effective against his hard-checking opponents. Jack Matson and Grice set the hopes of the Colonist supporters rising on several occasions, only for them to be dashed to the ground again.

With improved shooting, better skating, a stronger attack and a stubborn defence The Colonist septette, Manager Purser of The Times believed, were the best men in the poolshooting proclivities used on the ice might, he thinks, have averted the washout.

Return Game. More excitement is promised Tuesday night when Purser's septette will again clash with Alex Stewart and the net of The Colonist puckchaser.

LAST NIGHT'S BOUTS

San Francisco, March 20.—A bout between Kid Herman and Sam Carlo, middleweights, was stopped in the fourth round last night and the decision given Carlo after the referee several times had warned Herman against hitting low. Young Brown fought a four-round draw with Joe Gorman, of Portland, as the semi-final. Harry Felsing won a decision over Bud Ridley.

Los Angeles, March 20.—Eddie Mahoney, of San Francisco, was awarded the decision over Tommy Richards, of Los Angeles, at the end of the four-round bout here last night. They fought at 135 pounds. Benny McCoy, of Philadelphia, and Charley Roselli, of Los Angeles, met at catchweights in the semi-final, fought a four-round draw.

Sacramento, Cal., March 20.—George Lee, Chinese miananweight, of Sacramento, was awarded the decision over Young Farrell, of Los Angeles, here last night. Lee Anderson, colored middleweight, of Boston, stopped "Kid" Leo, of San Francisco, in the third round.

Paterson, N. J., March 20.—Referee Sullivan stopped the bout between Pete Herman, bantamweight champion and Lew Angelo of Trenton, in the eighth round here last night when Angelo was staggering about the ring. Herman had the better of the fight in every round.

CANADIAN CHAMPION HAS EASY VICTORY

Frank Barrieau Completely Outgenerals Milwaukee Man

Calgary, March 20.—Wicked left and right hooks, jabs and swings found easy target in Art Magril's head last night and Frank Barrieau, Canadian welterweight boxing champion, had no trouble winning the decision over the Milwaukee man in 15 rounds. The Canadian champion completely out-generated his opponent, but Magril took severe punishment and fought back gamely. He failed utterly in his attempt to penetrate Barrieau's defence. Although Barrieau's defence was severely tested by the movements, Magril was not there on the offensive and Barrieau landed terrific blows, scoring repeatedly to the face.

The bout between Charlie McCarthy and Jimmy Clarke ended in the eighth round of a schedule 10-round bout. Clarke was severely jarred by a couple of hard jabs from McCarthy in this round and he gave up the fight.

SEATTLE MAY MAKE CHANGES IN LINE-UP

Jack Walker May Play Left Wing in Six-Man Series

Ottawa, March 20.—Commenting on the coming world series hockey game, The Journal this morning says: "Seattle may make a change on their lineup with the subject of off-setting the strength which Ottawa will exhibit in the six-man game. The Jack Walker, who plays rover in the seven-man game, is likely to be switched to left wing in the six-man series. Walker is a dazzling player whose poke checks to utilize it to the full extent, and will send Jack to cover 'Punch' Broadbent.

The latter is a great man for the offensive, and his back checking is a great asset to the Ottawa team.

His work, while not as spectacular as some of his team mates, is of the damming kind. Broadbent generally has his "cover" so tired by the second period that a reserve man has to be rushed in.

It is hoped that Walker's checking and ability to follow back will break up Broadbent's game.

Pete Green, Ottawa trainer, is confident his team will win. He points to the fact that he has never had such a willing band of workers on his list in all his career. In proof of his contention he points out that they are all sixty-minute men.

There has not been the least friction on the Ottawa team all season. They are like a happy family, as one has been seen the road with them can verify.

Monday night's game is sure to be fought on a hard ice surface. The weather has been getting slightly colder all the time and the weather sharps predict a snowstorm to-day. Seattle arrives here Sunday and will have a day's rest before starting the grind.

One of the features of the series will be that many of the old defenders of the Stanley Cup will occupy prominent seats. Boush Hutton, Art Bily, and Harvey Pules, Dave Moore, and Suddie Gilmour, Harry Westwick and Alf Smith, as well as Tommy Smith, who defended the cup when Quebec were title holders, will be in the stand.

While we do not think Seattle will lift the cup, it is expected that it will be a terrific series. The Westerners are a rugged team, who can stand the gaff. They are not great speed merchants, according to the records, but have a steady and consistent style, and have reduced combination to an art.

Large Crowd Admires School Cadets at Assault-at-Arms

Trench Raids, Gymnastic Exercises, Military Drill and Boxing Features of Interesting Programme.

Interesting exhibitions by cadets of the public schools of the city and also of the University and High Schools aroused rounds of hearty applause at the first day of the assault-at-arms at the Drill Hall last night. The building lends itself admirably for such an event and the military movements by the cadets, gymnastic exhibitions by the University and High School students were all staged under ideal circumstances. There was something happening every minute and at times two or three different exhibitions were staged simultaneously. Many congratulations were extended to Captain Ian St. Clair, chief instructor of Public School Cadets on the efficiency and smart appearance of the young soldiers.

The proceedings were watched by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, accompanied by Mr. H. J. S. Muskett, and Judge and Mrs. Lamppert, Brigadier-General Ross, G.O.C., and staff; Major Riddell, chairman of the School Board, and Mrs. Riddell; S. J. Willis, Superintendent of Education, and Mrs. Willis, and the Mayor and Mrs. Porter.

Brigadier-General J. M. Ross, C. M. G., D. S. O., G. O. C., of Military District No. 11, inspected the cadets of honor composed of cadets from the Boys' Central School under the direction of Major Wilby, George Jay School Cadets, under Lieutenant T. W. Hall; South Park School Cadets, under Captain W. Brown; Burnside Cadets, under Lieutenant A. Wilson; Victoria West School Cadets, under Captain Hunkin; Margaret Jenkins School Cadets, under J. J. Gilliland, also gave exhibitions.

High School Cadets in charge of Major Harvey and University Cadets under Sergeant-Major Watson gave exhibitions on the parallel bars, horizontal bars and the vaulting horse, which were among the most appreciated features of a comprehensive military programme.

Machine gun exercises were given under the direction of Capt. Cumming. Bayonet exercises, first aid and a trench raid were other items on the programme which were watched with interest.

A floor which delighted the hearts of the roller skaters was thrown open for a party of youngsters for a miniature skating carnival for part of the evening. They were attired in a variety of fancy costumes, including bakers, jockeys, pierrots and clowns.

The Cadet Bugle Bands and Pipers Chisholm and Mars, added to the general military atmosphere of the evening.

Brigadier-General Ross presented a cup to the High School, awarded by the Daughters of the Empire, of Vancouver, to the High School attaining the greatest proficiency in musketry. Stewart Wilders, of the South Park School, won a prize of a rifle for the best marksmanship among public school cadets, scoring sixty-six out of a possible seventy.

Under the direction of W. H. Davies a series of bouts were staged, most of the performers being pupils of the free boxing lessons. Partizan feeling was high among the young spectators as the favorites from the different schools went through their paces. Results were as follows:

Boxing.
115 lbs.—Wm. Palmer (Margaret Jenkins) beat Howard Winter (Margaret Jenkins).
90 lbs.—Hugh Burnett (North Ward) beat Dave Burnett (North Ward).
115 lbs.—Alexander (University School) vs. Cummings (Esquimalt), exhibition.

KID SKATERS STAGE ANNUAL HOCKEY GAME

Prospective league purchasers, some of them as young as eight years of age and the eldest about twelve years of age staged the much looked forward to annual game at the Arena last night. The Shamrocks staged by an earnest young captain of twelve, Earl Carlin, met and defeated the Maple Leaves by a score of six goals to one.

For many days past the game had been keenly debated in the Fairfield district and strenuous practices had been held on roller skates, preliminary to the real ice battle, about thirty youngsters strove for a place in either team. Lester Patrick, whose eight-year-old son, Lynn, has great hopes of following in his father's footsteps and figured on the winning team in yesterday's game, was called upon to handle the whistle to the delight of the players who "didn't want a kid to referee." The sides were Shamrocks: V. Thompson, Carberry Collins, Sidney Westendale, Lynn Patrick, Earl Carlin, Wesley Nelson and Neil McSwain. The Maple Leaves were represented by Teddy Rance, Duncan Fox, Arthur Patterson, Jack Woodley, Frank Higgins, Tom Christie and Albert Russell. Wesley Newton scored three times for the winners Earl Carlin once and Neil McSwain once.

ELKS WILL ENTER THE AQUATIC FIELD

A bid for swimming honors during the summer will be made by the Elks Swimming Club, arrangements for which will be perfected at a meeting to be held next week. A. T. Waite reports that about fifty swimmers have already been enrolled and many more are expected before the season opens.

Officers of the club will be elected at the next meeting, and a search for suitable location for a clubhouse at the Gorge will be made. Affiliation with the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association will be made with the object of entering the members for the competitive events during the water season.

TO-NIGHT'S BASKETBALL

To-night at the Y. M. C. A. the following games will be played in the Sunday School Basketball League:

Intermediates.
7 p.m.—St. Andrew's vs. Midgrets.

Exception to the action of the Saanich Council in refusing to pass any extraordinary estimates for school purposes this year, was taken at a meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Craigholm School held last night. Trustee Coates and Chairman of the School Board, spoke in defence of the Board's action in submitting the estimates had in refusing to cut down on the ordinary expenditures. Other speakers thought it deplorable that the school estimates should suffer at the expense of an elaborate sewer and water programme.

ORPHEUM

Rita Mario and Company is the rather modest title of an aggregation of wonderful talented musical artists consisting of nine beautiful young women and Mr. Elliot in Best, who under the efficient leadership of Rita Mario, the talented virtuoso and conductor, presents what may be justly termed, the most artistically enterprising musical offering ever seen in vaudeville.

Rita Mario, to-day foremost conductor of music among women, has held a musical career little short of marvelous. Practically brought up on the stage, she appeared as solo violinist when but nine years of age with a company of professional children in Boston, winning immediate favor. A year later she went abroad and was not heard of publicly again until after four years of ardent study under the greatest masters of the world affords, she was chosen to follow that great artist Mme. Camilla Urso on a tour of this country.

A slender brown haired young girl with a sweet and unaffected manner, Rita Mario, has made a name for herself in her conversation as though she had not been the recipient of more notice than is bestowed upon even stage favorites. Her forgetful of herself in her enthusiasm for her art, which is her life work—such is Rita Mario, she has appeared in this country for many a day.

The appearance of this wonderful organization in this city may be construed to be the real musical event of the season. Seldom have we had the opportunity for such a visit and seldom have music lovers in this city had the chance to listen to music of the standard rendered by Rita Mario and Company. A gorgeous satin cyclorama setting in a beautiful gray and red colorings sets off to perfection the youth and beauty of this group of talented artists. The programme of musical selection embody classic operatic and popular ballads.

Solos for harp, violin and xylophone are intermingled with ensemble numbers and an excellent voiced pretty girl furnishes a ballad. It is by far the most pretentious musical organization in vaudeville to-day and the dread, the terror is in constant entertaining of all musical acts.

COMING TO PRINCESS

That the Canadian soldiers in France were royally entertained while billeted near the front lines, has been amply evidenced to the some folks since the arrival of the famous Dumbells, who are playing a home coming tour of the larger Canadian cities, presenting their original overseas revue "Biff, Bing, Bang," at the Princess Theatre, March 29 and 30. The production which they have brought to this country is identical with the artious shows they gave at the front, and this bunch gave over five hundred performances in France, forty in Brussels and fifty-eight in London.

The cast and chorus is made up entirely of soldier-actors, who have averaged sixteen months in the trenches before being brought out of the line and given places in the entertainment corps.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

Harmless to flush Kidneys and neutralize irritating acids.
Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

One thousand dollars for a shadow! That's what it cost Mary Pickford, "America's Sweetheart," to throw a shadow of herself on the wall of the big Paramount Artercraft Picture. The picture was taken in a dugout, which the Yanks had left behind in their victorious march toward Berlin. High up in this new-made cave is a scene in which Miss Heming, torn from a magazine. One corner has been partially ripped away by a bullet hole made by a Hun sniper. Miss Heming has purchased a suitable frame for the moment and has it among her most cherished possessions.

Theodore Roberts, the veteran actor of the screen, is a mellow old man in "What Every Woman Knows," in which Enid Bennett is again the offering big reward for the capture of Alvarez. PRINCESS "Officer 666" will be produced by the Princess Players this evening for positively the last time. So insistent were the requests for a repetition of the Princess Theatre finally decided to give a couple of repeat performances to afford those who had not seen the play during last week an opportunity of doing so.

"Officer 666" is probably the most talked of play that Mr. H. has ever produced and without a single exception the caste has been well chosen, each actor fitting into his part as if thought it had been written for him.

It has ever been the aim of the Princess Players to provide clean, wholesome entertainment and in "Officer 666" they have found a play which amuses and holds the interest of the audience from start to finish and is not only in the very best of English-speaking world) but on account of the excellent manner in which it is presented.

PANTAGES

Musical comedy with its pretty girls and lively comedians will headline the new bill at The Pantages opening Monday matinee when George Chooch will present his latest offering, "Oh, Mike." The Chooch acts are noted for the attractiveness of the young women singers and dancers, and for liveliness in staging. Roy Gordon is the featured comedian and he is ably assisted by George Gould.

Adding a touch of mysticism to the new bill will be Aleko and his company in an astonishing demonstration of mind reading and telepathy. They are billed as "The Mystical Greeks" and they delve into the future, read the past and present in an amazingly rapid performance in which they answer questions regarding their friends or relatives, love and marriage.

Paul Quinn and Frank Caverly will present their latest comedy skit, "The Submariners." The New York harp at night is shown. A periscope appears, and finally the hull of a submarine is visible. Two men, an officer and a sailor, appear on deck and there follows some rapid-fire comedy guaranteed to get a laugh at twenty paces.

The Talkative Juggler, Phil La Troka, is already well known to local vaudeville audience, who will welcome his return with new comedy

LOCKLEY ATTACKS OPPONENT BITTERLY FOR FORGING FIGHT

Declares Mr. Jardine Plotted For Reeve's Office Without Contest

CAUSTIC CRITICISM OF JARDINE'S MOTIVES

"God forbid that I should force upon the electors of Esquimalt any man of the calibre of John Jardine," observed Alexander Lockley amid applause at the Sallor's Club last night in opening his campaign for re-election to the office of Reeve of Esquimalt.

Mr. Lockley charged that subtle political tricks of Mr. Jardine were responsible for the whole dislocation of Esquimalt's municipal affairs. His declared with emphasis that he did not know at the time of the election that he was in any way disqualified, and offered $100 to anyone who could bring proof that he had been informed.

He declared that it took four lawyers two days and a judge seven days to decide that he was disqualified.

Wanted Office Without Election.

"John Jardine did not serve notice on me, but he had a card up his sleeve, and his supporters passed around the word to keep quiet about it until after nomination day," said Mr. Lockley. "Then when nobody else was in the contest besides us two, his game was to spring this disqualification charge, and try to grab the office of Reeve in an undemocratic way by acclamation and without being elected to it by the people. But the judge decided that that little game could not be worked, and he ordered a new election.

"John Jardine's past record elected me. After the election his words were: 'Lockley has beaten me, but I will get him. I can't beat Lockley openly in the election, but I can beat him through the returned soldiers he was trying to help build homes for. He beat us, but we will make him pay for it.

Knows All Political Tricks.

"This election is not a case of Jardine versus Lockley, but a case of Jardine versus manliness. In January his game was to stoop so far as to get me, to step down and give him the election by acclamation.

"Give Jardine the credit for knowing the tricks of the trade. You can't teach John Jardine anything about politics.

"Most Contemptible."

"This is a dirty and contemptible game. With all deference to the good judge and my counsellors, I want to say that I had no contract, directly or indirectly with the Corporation of the Municipality of Esquimalt. The judge said he believed there was a limit, and he believed that I was within that limit on election day. The judge held that there was a connecting link through the mortgage with the returned soldiers.

"Deliberate and Premeditated."

"This man, Jardine, made this remark last Monday night, that Lockley knew he was disqualified and that he had been notified and yet in the face of the law he ran again."

"I invited him here to-night but he is not here. Before the day of election I am going to invite him to a joint meeting.

Jardine's Reputation Known.

"You old timers know him. Did he play the game last election? Will he play the game at this election? If his statements are true why does he not come here to-night and not go behind my back to make statements?"

No Denial of Roorback.

Referring to the dodger roorback put out against him last election, Mr. Lockley said:

"E. C. For the same house the Esquimalt price last year was $2,600 against $3,475 for Saanich.

He also explained that the building agreements were made with the soldiers directly, and there was not one mention of Esquimalt municipality in the contracts.

Suffered For Duty.

"And now they say I am disqualified for doing my duty as a citizen to the men who are returned soldiers," Mr. Lockley went on. "Who built the houses at cost and who suffered? Lockley. And all because of the man of Esquimalt price last year was $2,600 against $3,475 for Saanich.

"Any man using the returned soldiers as a handle to get him into office is unworthy to be a citizen of Esquimalt."

Mr. Jardine's Political Past.

Mr. Lockley recalled the past political adventures of Mr. Jardine, how he had been a Liberal, a Conservative, a Liberal again and after the Liberal Party chose Mr. Brewster as leader instead of himself, he walked across the House and without consulting his constituents, who had elected him as a Liberal, joined the Conservative Party.

Offers $100 For Proof.

"I will give you a cheque for $100 for any use you think best, if you can prove that John Jardine mentioned to me that I was disqualified before two o'clock on nomination day," Mr. Lockley went on.

Reduced Taxes Already.

Mr. Lockley told how despite $4,000 on exchange this year on bonds of the municipality in New York, he and this year's Council in their two months of office had brought down the taxes, the only municipality in the Province to have this record. He also told how he himself worked day after day at the municipal offices when the whole staff was sick with influenza, so that the municipality would not be put to the expense of employing extra help.

"You have my record in black and white in your decreased taxes this year," Mr. Lockley continued. "If I had not had a success of my short term of office, I would not be here seeking re-election."

Cowardly Letter Writer.

Mr. Lockley took up a letter in The Times last night signed by "Veritas Vincent."

"Veritas Vincent, you are a coward, because you haven't the backbone to put your name to a letter in the press," Mr. Lockley declared. "If you are here in this meeting to-night, I tell you to your face that you are a coward and if you are willing afterwards I will show you that you are a coward."

Mr. Lockley went on to quote from his own letters and public statements to disprove statements contained in the Veritas Vincent letter.

How Union Labor Feels Toward the "Red" Agitators

For months editorials from city and country papers alike have warned us of the danger of "Red" agitators. We have been told that they are making every effort to foment strikes, hoping they eventually will end in revolution; that the American workingman is becoming infected with the virus of Bolshevism; that he is already turning Bolshevik, as evidenced by recent strikes of great magnitude. For these reasons The Literary Digest was determined to find the views of the workers themselves. We accordingly sent a letter to hundreds of labor-leaders throughout the country, and in order to make no mistake about it, we did not merely ask if the workers disliked or disapproved the "Red" agitators—we asked if they approved their deportation. In plain language, should they be kicked out of the country?

A comprehensive summary of the 526 replies received is given in THE LITERARY DIGEST for March 20th. ANNUAL MEETING TO SEE GENERATION OF USEFUL WORK

Natural History Society Will Hold Social Gathering to Mark Event Monday

The useful career of the Natural History Society of British Columbia during the past thirty years will be celebrated on Monday evening, when the society will hold its annual meeting at the Jones Building, accompanied by a social session afterwards.

The organization, after a generation, is fortunate in being able to number among its members five of those who were active in its affairs at organization in 1890, namely, Drs. Hasell and Newcombe, Messrs. Ashdown Green, D. E. Campbell and Albert H. Maynard.

Incorporated in 1903, the Natural History Society throughout its life has been active in promoting scientific inquiry and historical research, and also the other main point named in its charter of incorporation, that of acting as an independent aid to the Provincial Museum.

One notable matter in which it first moved, and which has in recent months come to a successful fruition, is the replacing of the flagstaff at Kew Gardens, London, England.

H. Anderson, during his visit to England in 1911 took the matter up with the Kew authorities, and as a result arrangements were taken in hand with the Provincial Government by which the old flagstaff erected in 1861 was replaced, and its successor now is doing duty as an example of British Columbia timber in the grounds of the famous institution.

The society introduced some years ago British songbirds to Vancouver Island. Unfortunately, however, a severe winter, the hardest for a generation, played havoc with the feathered immigrants.

In many other respects it has achieved useful results, which will be referred to by President A. R. Sherwood in his address on Monday.

The society now has permanent headquarters in the Jones Building, at room 411.

When Life feels Life

As the inspector stands at the table, his sensitive finger tips subtly feel the "life" in the leather he is examining. So accurate is this sense of touch that he knows instantly whether that piece of leather is up to the LECKIE standard. His 40 years of "knowing" makes it impossible for a piece of "dead" leather to get by. That's one reason why the LECKIE BOOT gives "More Miles Per Dollar."

In making the LECKIE DRESS BOOT, only "live" leather is used. The pictures at the side show the difference in leather. The upper one is of first quality, after having been stretched by the inspector it still retains its original appearance and shows no wrinkles. The lower picture shows what happens to the poorer grades—note the wrinkles.

It is such thoroughness in the manufacture of THE LECKIE BOOT that has made it the greatest wearing boot today. Slip your foot into one.

MEASURE LIMITED TO MINOR CHANGES

Apiaries Act Is Passed Through Third Reading Stage

Legislative Press Gallery, March 19.
On the intimation by the Minister of Lands that the amendments to the Land Act would very largely resolve themselves into matters of administration, Opposition objections did not deter prompt report upon the measure complete without amendments this afternoon.

Mr. Ross expressed the view yesterday afternoon that hardship might be worked in the case of some pre-emptor not able, from various causes, to complete his qualification requirements within the stipulated period of three months as provided in the amendments now before the House.

Mr. Tait, who has been in the House that a time limit had been set in order that long out-standing cases might be cleaned up and the land left in its unqualified state disposed of in the ordinary way. All cases of extenuating circumstances, he said, would be treated upon their merits without the application of the "screws."

The bill to amend the Apiaries Act was read a third time and passed, and the bill to amend the Animals Act progressed in committee and will be discussed further.

ESCAPE AIRING OF P. G. E. MATTER AGAIN

By Adoption of Procedure Expedient Hanes Resolution Is Jumped

Legislative Press Gallery, March 19.
Standing on the Order Paper to-day was a lengthy resolution on the motion of the member for North Vancouver. The subject matter was the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. The request was for a Royal Commission. But as soon as the House assembled the Premier moved that it proceed to the orders of the day. In other words, resolutions were "skipped."

Thus did this favorite topic of the North Vancouver member escape another airing.

The "move," however, was not lost on the House. The Premier was not the only one who wore a smile and fully half the members present directed inquisitive glances towards the sponsor of the resolution. When the laughter had subsided the committee stage of the Provincial Elections Bill had been re-entered.

A voluminous document was presented to the Legislature this afternoon by the Premier in the form of a generously signed petition from the Moderationist Party praying for permission for the sale of light wines and beer in the land. The document was duly filed.

DAYLIGHT SAVING.

To the Editor.—If the Trades and Labor Council were influenced to go on record as being in favor of Daylight Saving by the powerful arguments advanced in its favor by President E. S. Woodward, then they must have taken him seriously when he said: "Don't let us make ourselves look foolish in the eyes of the last year. If Mr. Woodward's children perform the ordinary duties of each twenty-four hours in the same way under both systems, men we would be glad to have him explain how the children get more play without taking it off the hours they ought to be sleeping."

He says if the matter was left to the children they would certainly vote for it. He might as well add that they would probably vote in favor of having more money to spend in the extra pleasure hour, while we read every day of the difficulties of the labor man in meeting the bills of the necessities of life. Daylight Saving may have been meant for a good measure during the war as a fuel and light saver, but daylight is the only thing that is being saved as the people who are so anxious to put it into force seem to know.

CONSTIPATION or COSTIVENESS

Constipation although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver.

There is nothing more productive of general ill health than constipation of the bowels, and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills the whole system will be poisoned and many different complications of diseases arise, so if you would be well, keep your bowels regular.

Mr. A. Roder, Hastings St., E., Vancouver, B.C., writes: "I desire to express my thanks for what Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have done for me. I had been suffering from constipation for two years, and also had a bad cough and headaches. I tried all sorts of cures and remedies, but got no relief until I was advised to try your pills. I got great relief after the first few doses."

Get Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills when you ask for them or send 25c and they will be sent by return of mail by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

have gone "pleasure mad" and would easily spend, in pleasure, severals times the amount saved in light and fuel.

The argument advanced by some of having an extra hour to work in the afternoon is too ridiculous to discuss for here again the labor man is asked to contribute his mite in the way of increased production, toward keeping up the man who kindly his big car and spends his afternoons at the golf links. Besides, if the labor man looks at the question fairly, when he knew a man generous enough to get up at 6 a.m. (Daylight Saving plan) to prepare to go to work for his employer rather than get up at 5 a.m., under the present system, to work for himself, which is really the same hour.

While Mr. Woodward seems to be so well satisfied as to how the children would vote, he seems to forget that the mothers would likely cast a much larger vote against it, and as they have the largest part in moulding the opinion of the coming generations, they ought to have the most consideration.

THE B. C. HOUSE.

Vancouver, B. C.
To the Editor.—Will you kindly reproduce in The Times the following communication I have addressed to The Vancouver Sun?

F. C. WADE.

17th March, 1920.
To the Editor Vancouver Daily Sun.—I have been absent elsewhere in the Province and only recently read your editorial entitled "Abolish B. C. House," in your issue of the 11th inst. Although both that article and the editorials in to-day's issue are written in no friendly spirit towards myself, I welcome them both as furnishing an opportunity to place some facts before your readers which should prove interesting.

Your main contention seems to be that B. C. House is carried on at a great loss to the Province. Another is that it does not produce results commensurate with its cost. There is a reference also to wasting money on "superfluous frills" and to something you call "pomp." As to this last I am glad to admit that British Columbia possesses very beautiful buildings on Regent Street in the very heart of London, that it is well and tastefully furnished, and has done a great deal to impress the people of the coast most favorably. As it is conducted on a purely democratic basis and with Jeffersonian simplicity, the allusion to "pomp" and "frills" is out of place. Of our fourteen thousand visitors during the last year I doubt if anyone noticed these features. They probably exist only in your imagination.

On the financial side you say that the discontinuance of the B. C. House would "save the equal of a million and a half in its upkeep." It is evident that though you set yourself up to instruct the public on this admittedly important matter, you know nothing whatever with regard to it.

This might have been excusable under the old system of keeping the public account, but the system on which they are now kept would make serious mistakes impossible.

If you will look at the public accounts for the fiscal year ended 31st March, 1919 (p.c. 185) you will see that the total cost, including interest on mortgage, ground rent, rates and taxes, maintenance and repairs, insurance, fuel and light, and cleaning and janitor's supplies was $49,748.06. If you will turn to p.c. 230 you will find that the rents received were $37,705.87. This would show a loss of $12,042.19, but against that must be set the rent which the Province would have to pay for the premises occupied if we were tenants merely instead of owners. The gross rental value of the part occupied by the Agent-General is $4,149 a year, or, in other words, at the normal rate of exchange our rental would be $20,122.96, which would bring the total rental up to $37,828.83 as against the total expenditure of $49,748.06. By owning the premises we save in rental more than $9,000 a year. According to the architect's statement begun me, after December, 1937, when the amount of the mortgage will have been paid off—the expenditure includes a sinking fund of 2½ per cent. per annum—the Province will not be paying any rent for the premises occupied by the Agent-General, and there will be a profit of $2,913.15-0-0. This is probably an underestimate, as the rents rose from $17,692.43 in 1916-17, to $27,470.27 in 1917-18, and $37,705.87 in 1918-19, and will continue to rise as leases terminate and are renewed.

What, then, becomes of your alarming figures? If you will refer again to the account (p.c. 85) you will see that the total cost of maintenance and repairs for the year was $3,276.69. At this rate, to realize your figures of a million and a half of upkeep would take more than four hundred and fifty years. But as I have pointed out, the saving made by owning B. C. House over the cost of upkeep is more than twice absorbed. There is the further expenditure necessary in connection with the Agent-General's Office, but as that would have to be paid in any case and has nothing to do with the cost of B. C. House and its upkeep, it does not enter into the question which you raise.

You are of opinion that the work of an Agent-General could be carried on at an office desk, "as is now done by the other Provinces of Canada and by the Australian States. Evidently here, too, you know nothing about the real situation. The Australian building in the Strand in which are housed the offices of the Commonwealth and of several of the States, is one of the most imposing buildings in London and cost several millions. The New Zealand building was also constructed at great expense. It is true that the other Provinces of Canada are not well housed, but Ontario and Nova Scotia, taking a leaf out of British Columbia's book, feel that they have allowed a valuable opportunity to slip by, and are at present looking for suitable sites on which to erect buildings of their own. Your statement that B. C. House could now be sold for a million dollars shows clearly that you are not personally in any case, but anyone who knows the facts will agree that that is the least of its advantages.

Your insinuations that it is not proving as successful as it might under present management are more difficult to reply to as they concern me personally. I may be allowed to point out, however, that the work during my years of occupancy has increased five to sevenfold over that of former years.

The order for 150,000,000 feet of timber and lumber should alone justify the existence of B. C. House if nothing else had been accomplished. It poured a great deal of ready money into the Province at a time of great stagnation and had much to do with inducing the present prosperity. I have since submitted another order of equal magnitude upon which no quotation could be obtained, besides inquiries that would have led to large orders for poles, cottonwood to take the place of Russian aspen for match-wood, and many other similar commodities which our lumbermen were too busy to consider. For a year I have been working on a plan to secure twenty-two steamers for the all-sea route to England from Vancouver to help rebuild Europe with wooden houses, and England has after a long fight, adopted the wooden house in her schedule and included it in her bonus arrangements. Should this scheme mature, it will do more for British Columbia than all our existing industries.

In the mineral field I have brought together the owners of many of our iron ore deposits with various powerful capitalist groups, with the result that English engineers have recommended our ore deposits and two great companies are in process of formation at the present time. The same applies to coal. In shipping I was to some extent instrumental in securing the ships which carried the timber order overseas. I have Sir Robert Borden's letter to show that on my suggestion the S.S. Empress of Asia was chartered to bring our Western men overseas to their own doorsteps in B. C. In publicity I obtained as much advertising free for B. C. lumber as Federalism accomplished at an expense of $200,000. It was on representations from B. C. House that the duty on soldiers' effects was removed. We were successful in procuring the offer of six seaplanes and six aeroplanes for forest ranging for nothing, though they cost the British Government $49,000. I might enumerate a host of other matters which must be placed to the credit of B. C. House during the last year. By great good fortune the privilege of looking after our returned soldiers came my way. Largely as a result of B. C. House propaganda, we will experience an immigration of wealthy settlers such as Canada has never known before.

It is disagreeable to talk shop and more disagreeable to have to defend oneself against blame and aspersion, but sometimes it becomes necessary to take up the cudgels in self-defence. As there are many thousands in B. C. who know the facts and have been generous in their appreciation of what has been done at B. C. House, I will pursue the subject no further, as I feel that I can safely leave my reputation in their hands.

I must sincerely thank you for the very welcome opportunity you have given me of putting the case of B. C. House and its management before you.

F. C. WADE.

A REAL HOME

On One-Third of an Acre

We want you to see this place. We can't describe the magnificent view of Oak Bay and the Olympic Mountains from all of the south windows of this delightful home. Nor can we do justice to the simple elegance of the living room and east bedroom. We simply state briefly what there is on each floor and leave the rest to your own judgment as to its value. We may add, however, that the taxes are only $36 per year and that this place cost the owner over $18,000, and he offers it now for $12,000. Good reason for selling. See us about it for other details.

Basement—Full size, concrete floor; lavatory, laundry tubs, hot water heating plant.

First Floor—Glassed-in veranda on two sides, wide and roomy, with radiators or heating during cold weather. Panelled walls in hall, book cases, buffet built in, etc.

Second Floor—Four bedrooms, full-sized plate glass mirrors in two of the doors; separate bath and lavatory; linen cupboards, etc.

The fittings throughout the house are of the very best. Twenty bearing fruit trees in garden. Trees and ornamental shrubs. Adjoining lots available if desired.

ANOTHER REAL HOME

On Half an Acre, Near Rockland Avenue

The views from this place are in a different direction, but not less beautiful than those from the place above. There isn't space to describe the beautiful proportions of the wide, airy rooms of this home nor the hand-carving which decorates the woodwork. We want you to see the beautiful lawns, fine old trees and shrubbery yourself. We simply state that it cost the owner over $25,000 and the price is now only $15,000. It is too large for the present size of the family.

This 8-roomed house is heated with hot water. Everything to make the place beautiful to live in and convenient for those who do the work seems to have been built into it. Panelled walls, beamed ceilings, built-in book cases and buffets. The woodwork throughout is of the very best. But you must see it to get an idea of its value.

ANOTHER ON ONE ACRE

The house consists of seven rooms, with full basement, concrete foundation, lavatory, etc. Walls with panels and plate rails. There are 35 bearing fruit trees on this property. Fine tennis courts, trees and shrubbery. It is close to the carline and the taxes are only $60 per year. $1,500 cash will handle this, and the price is $7,000.

Fourteen Acres Within Five Miles of Victoria

This is a country home with six acres cultivated and the balance in pasture. Stumps seven years old. The soil is of the very best, as you can see what the land in that district produces.

Eight-roomed house, with water supply from never-failing wells. Modern plumbing, bathroom, lavatory, etc. It would cost $6,500 to $7,000 to build the house alone to-day.

Barns for nine head; garage, poultry house for 500 birds. Telephone in the house.

This is not a snap at this price, but is a ready-made home for anyone who wants a country place. The owner has to leave on account of health.

EIGHT ROOMS, IN ESQUIMALT

This place, while not so pretentious as that described on the left, is exceptionally good value. A contractor told us this week that he wouldn't undertake to build the house alone for $6,000. It stands on a full-sized lot close to the carline. The price on terms of $1,500 cash is $5,250. Here is a brief description:

Basement—Full size, concrete floor, lavatory, servant's room, hot air furnace.

Hall—Plain walls.

Living Room—Panelled, plate rails, beam ceilings, fireplace, etc.

Dining Room—Same, but with buffet.

Den—Plain walls, fireplace, cupboards, etc.

Kitchen—With cooling cupboards, bins, drawers, etc.

Upstairs—Four large bedrooms and bath.

There is a partly built greenhouse on the lot and a small poultry house; concrete walks, lawn, flowers, etc.

ONE ACRE WATERFRONT

With Five-Roomed Cottage, for $6,000

This acre is free from rock and there are over thirty full bearing fruit trees on it. It is just a block from the cars. Taxes are only $100 per year on the whole acre. The fruit yields more than the amount of the taxes. It will cut up readily into three good lots, two with waterfrontage and one on the street. Barn is in excellent condition. Room for two cars. This is an excellent investment, even when viewed from that standpoint alone.

The house is old, but is in good sound, dry condition. Terms can be arranged.

For Comfort, Cosiness and Convenience

We recommend this place in Fairfield. It requires $3,500 cash to handle it at $6,800.

Basement—Full concrete floor, laundry tubs, lavatory and hot air furnace; clothes chute from linen closet upstairs.

Hall—Panels, plate rails, beams.

Living Room—Same, but with book cases.

Dining Room—Same, but with buffet. Hardwood floors in above as well as

Den—Same as living room, but smaller.

Upstairs—Three bedrooms, each with clothes closet and windows in each. Front and back stairways.

This house is new and most up-to-date in every way.

For a Piece of Money-Making Farm Land

We recommend the following at $17 per acre.

There are 155 acres in the piece, of which 40 acres is heavy black soil. The owner says that this is covered with light tea brush that can be removed for $5 per acre. It can be cut with a machine.

The balance of the land is rough, but the total price is only $2,625. It is within 17 miles of Victoria and about four from the railway station and a main road passes within a mile of it.

If you want the making of a REAL FARM, see us about this.

LIST YOUR PROPERTY WITH US. WE WILL ADVERTISE IT EFFECTIVELY—AND SELL IT.

A COUNTRY HOME

Within an Hour's Ride of VANCOUVER

This property will suit someone who appreciates a REAL HOME in the country. The house alone cost over $35,000, and the gardener's cottage, foreman's cottage, barns, stables, poultry houses and other buildings are of the very best. It consists of

140 Acres

Nearly all under cultivation. It is only three-quarters of a mile from the railway station on the main line of the C. P. R. The main motor road passes the corner. Connects with all points by phone. Special gas plant for lighting. Photos, Plans, Elevations, Maps, etc., with full description, may be seen at the office. The price has been reduced to $55,000.

Stock and implements at a valuation.

$2,800 for This Seven-Roomed House in Victoria West

We consider this house a positive snap at the price. When shipbuilding starts there will be a rush for houses in this district. The house stands on a lot with 66-foot frontage. One block from the cars.

Full-sized basement, three-quarters of it with concrete floor; hot air furnace; stone foundation. Upstairs with fireplace, but no built-in fixtures; separate bath and lavatory.

Get further particulars of this and other houses in this district on our lists.

Five-Roomed Bungalow, $3,465

Full-sized basement, concrete floor basement, concrete foundation; hot air furnace.

Panels, plate rails, beamed ceilings, built-in buffet, fireplaces, built-in cupboards, bins, drawers, etc.

This lot is 50 x 120 feet, within half a block of the carline and where the view can never be obstructed. It is just outside the city limits and the taxes are very low. See us about this and others at about this price.

DO YOU WANT A "FARMLETT"

Of One to Ten Acres

We freely admit that the term is a new one, but if you are looking for a LITTLE FARM let us show you one or more acre lots at $54 per acre up,

At this price they are timbered, but consist of deep black soil, free from rock.

THE B. C. ELECTRIC RAILWAY STATION IS ON THE PROPERTY.

These acres are within ten minutes' walk of the Summer resort at Deep Bay, where land is held at eight to ten times this price. We are selling these lots at ONE-TENTH to ONE-QUARTER of the old price, for example:

Old price, $1,050. New Price, $300 per acre lot.

Old price, $350. New Price, $54 per acre lot.

Old price, $750. New Price, $60 per acre lot.

RACHMANINOFF'S "FANTASIE" TO BE PLAYED HERE

Mr. Albert Mirovitch and Mrs. Green to Render Beautiful Duetto

A programme of wide catholicity, representative of six of the greatest composers, has been announced for the recital to be given by M. Albert Mirovitch, the eminent Russian pianist, at the Empress Hotel ballroom on Thursday evening next, March 25, and lovers of really high-class music are promised an exceptional and all-too-rare treat.

Rachmaninoff Fantasia.
With Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green at the second piano, M. Mirovitch will play the duetto Rachmaninoff's Fantasia—a beautiful composition, which by reason of the technical difficulties it presents to the average pianist, has escaped the fate of hackneyism. The Fantasia is divided into a series of four music-pictures, each having for its theme a verse from one of the poets.

The first, called the Barcarolle, conjures up a picture created by a stanza from one of Lermentoff's poems which, freely translated is as follows:
"The evening wave scarcely rocks under the gondola . . .
And again a song, the song of a guitar.
And the notes of the old well-known Barcarolle I hear from afar,
Now sad now joyous.
The gondola glides over the water as smoothly as Love over time.
But after its passing all is still again, as Love after its passing will never return."

Love and Tears.
The second of the cycle is La Nuit-Tamour, based on one of Byron's poems. The music charmingly reproduces the effect of a moon-light night with the nightingale singing in the trees and lovers exchanging vows. In the third movement the Theme is "Tears," taken from a poem which translated reads:
"Human tears, oh human tears,
You flow by night and you flow by day,
You flow unknown and you flow unseen, uncounted endless.
You flow like rain in a dark night in the sad Autumn."
Easter Rejoicing.

The sad pathos underlying this third movement gives place to a joyousness in the final "one-picture," which is gayly descriptive of the Easter festival as observed throughout Russia. Throughout the country the six weeks' fast corresponding to our Lenten season was rigidly observed. At midnight on the day preceding the Easter Sunday the population gathered in the neighborhood of the churches and as the last stroke of midnight sounded, the church bells rang out in a carillon of sound and the people with one voice shout "Christ is Risen. Yes, He has risen indeed," and from east to west and north to south the countryside echoes with the joyous peal of the bells as they rang out their message of hope. The movement has for its theme the actual carillon as played at Easter at a certain church in Moscow, and the ringing of the bells is repeated with charming effect throughout.

The complete programme for the recital is as follows:
PART I
Sonata op. 57 (Appassionata) Beethoven
Allegro Assai. Andante con moto
Allegro ma non troppo Presto
Two Songs without words Mendelssohn

GODOWSKY TO TOUR EUROPE SHORTLY

What is believed to be the first offer to an American instrumentalist since the war to tour Europe has been received by Leopold Godowsky, the eminent pianist, from George Kugel, Viennese impresario, who extends an invitation to Godowsky to concertize in Scandinavia, Holland, France, Switzerland and Italy next season. It is believed that the virtuoso will accept says the Seattle Daily Times.

The communication from Kugel was the first Godowsky has received from abroad in five years. Kugel states that although Godowsky's allegiance to the Allies has never been questioned, he is one of the few American artists who to-day stand as high in both Germany and Austria.

In Los Angeles, her home, Mrs. Godowsky stated that she received Kugel's message an indication of a musical renaissance abroad, and Kugel himself states that music is furnishing the consolation needful to the Viennese.

In a communication to Godowsky from Robert Lienau, a Berlin publisher, who controls the German rights to Godowsky's compositions, it is stated that contemporary composers, dormant during the war, are coming to life. Among these are Godowsky, Paul Juon, Palgren and Sibelius. Godowsky's works are having a tremendous sale in Europe, avers Lienau, who requests the foreign rights to the new Godowsky suite, "Trikontameron."

TO BE HEARD IN RECITAL HERE THURSDAY

the eminent Russian pianist, is expected to arrive in the city from California on Monday, where he has been appearing in recital with conspicuous success. He will give a recital, assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green, at the Empress Hotel ballroom on Thursday evening, March 25, under the auspices of the Ladies' Musical Club.

Godowsky has started his seasonal tour and has made appearance throughout the South and in Chicago. His Northwest tour is to commence early in May.

Leopold Godowsky wrote twenty compositions, all of them waltzes, during his Master Classes at Seattle between August 7 and September 3. Some of the names given these waltzes are "Tempest," "Music Box" and "Cuckoo."

Puccini wrote his first opera, "Le Villi," for a contest, but it failed to win the prize. It is interesting to note that Puccini, Mascagni, Buzzi, Pichia and Tirindelli, were in the same class together at the Milan Conservatory of Music.

MUSICAL "FREAK" HAS ARRIVED IN CITY

J. M. Waterbury Holds World's Record For Continuous Piano Playing

A musical "freak" has come to town in the person of J. M. Waterbury, who holds the world's record of continuous playing for 65 hours, 21 minutes and 45 seconds.

During this musical romp to fatigue, he stops for nothing. An attendant gives him food and nourishment. Mr. Waterbury has played a number of contests throughout the country and has so far held the laurels at this musical pastime. This last record was made in Everett, Wash., in June last. His nearest competitor was a young woman at Bridgeport, Conn., who, a few years ago played continuously for 64 hours, while he went on for 65 hours. "I wish to say," said Mr. Waterbury in the course of an interview to-day, "that I do not use drugs or dope of any kind to keep going. Neither am I hypnotized, as many presume. Absurd! Others call me a nut. Equally absurd. If anything these on the other side of the window who watch me, hour after hour, in all kinds of weather, are, I think more deserving of the name than I. Just plain nerve, grit, cold damp towels with a sprinkle of strong ammonia and hot black coffee is about my stock in trade."
Mr. Waterbury is out to make a new record, but owing to the fact that he has made an engagement for a billiard parlor window, which must close at midnight, his time is limited to only 24 hours a day. He begins his very unique performance on Monday at 6 a. m. playing 18 hours. On Tuesday the same hours, and each day following during the week. He expects to go through the week on this schedule. "I may be able to go through," he says, "but you know accidents will happen. I expect to make a big six day record."
Mr. Waterbury's performance will be staged in the window of a billiard parlor on Johnson Street.

MUSICAL NOTES

(By George J. Dyke.)

London's chief sanctuary of religion is St. Paul's Cathedral, the finest building in London, with the worst approach, the shrine of heroes, the model of "grace" and the chief oeuvre of a great genius, Sir Christopher Wren. St. Paul's is the central object of modern London, the churches on the site have stood above the welcoming waters of the Thames since the times of the Saxons. In the clock tower is the clock made by Ob Langley Bradley in 1705, which then cost £300. The minute hands are nine feet eight inches long and weigh seventy-five pounds each. The pendulum is sixteen feet long and the bob weighs 180 pounds, and yet is suspended by a spring no thicker than a twenty-five cent piece. Below the great bell are six smaller bells on which the clock strikes the quarters of the hour. In the northern tower is the bell that tolls for prayers. Although the bell of St. Paul's is the smallest, it is by far the best of the four large bells of England, the other three being York, Lincoln and Oxford. The great bell of St. Paul's weighs about 11,474 pounds, and its diameter is nine feet. It was cast from the metal of "Great Tom," a bell that once hung in a clock tower opposite Westminster Hall. It was given away by William III, and bought for St. Paul's for a little over $2,000. It was recast in 1719. The tonic (keynote) is A flat. This great bell was the tocsin that summoned the burghers to arms when the citizens of London justly ranged themselves on the side of Simon de Montfort, who stood up for their liberties. It was again especially rung on that memorable occasion when Queen Eleanor, who was so much detested by the people, tried to escape by water from the Tower. The celebration at St. Paul's of the victory over the French at the Battle of St. Quentin by Philip and the Spaniards was another occasion when the bells were especially rung. During a great storm in 1561 the then wooden steeple of St. Paul's was burned and the bells melted. This steeple was never re-erected in spite of Queen Elizabeth's angry remonstrances.

The "children of St. Paul's," whom Shakespeare, in Hamlet, maintains, with the jealousy of a rival manager, were the chorister boys of St. Paul's. It is supposed, acted in their singing school, beginning at 4 p. m. after prayers, the price of admission being fourpence. At a later period these boys were known to have acted some of Lily's euphemistic plays and one of Middleton's.

Charles I was a man of taste, and patronized painting and architecture. It is interesting to note that the "Messiah" has been given every year since 1832 by the Lindorse Chorus, in that, perhaps, the most musical city of Kansas. Back in the early nineties Lillian Nordica was engaged there at a fee of $1,200, considered in those days a fabulous sum to pay a singer, and the event was a sensation. Nordica arrived in her private car, and within a radius of hundreds of miles special trains and excursions were arranged, which brought such big crowds that the large auditorium was packed to overflowing. The annual "Messiah" festival is always held March 28 to April 4.

Temperament In a Piano

One speaks of temperament with a musician as indicating a fineness of feeling and complexity of moods that gives to his work something far removed from the common.

Yes, the real artist is a man of moods—he is an artist because he is temperamental—because of his moods.

ALONG VICTORIA'S AUTO WAY

There is one motor man at least in Victoria who believes in ideas and getting them.

He is Carlton H. Willis of Jameson and Willis, Studebaker and Gray-Dort distributors for the island. To get the latest in ideas he has been in Seattle most of the week attending the great 1920 Auto Show there. The ideas he brings back with him will soon find a prominent place in the new Studebaker sales-rooms that are being completed on Fort Street.

We started our work this week by receiving a sermon on "The Greatest Money Maker for the Farm," or "His Majesty the Motor Truck." It all came from J. M. Baker sales manager for the Motor Service Co., Ltd., Vancouver. He was in Victoria in the interests of the famous Garford.

Mr. Baker sermonizes this way: "One motor truck replaces from six to eight horses.

"It takes five acres of land to feed one horse for one year.

"For every horse you supplement with a motor truck, you add five acres to your farm.

"A motor truck is always ready to pull you through the rush season.

"A motor truck means larger crops by giving the farmer more time for cultivation.

"The motor truck 'eats' only when it is working.

"A motor truck enables a farmer to take quick advantage of top-notch prices.

"A motor truck never goes lame, gets the colic or dies.

"A motor truck can pay for itself by shrinkage it saves in hauling cattle and hogs.

"The motor truck is as essential on the farm as the binder.

"A motor truck hauls at about one-half the cost of a team—or less.

"A motor truck will give the average farmer two hours more working time each day."

In all this sermon he does not mention one word about the Garford. Perhaps he thinks it would be redundancy to do so.

Charlie Mitchell, of Michigan street has bought one of the new light Briscoe specials, one of the few that has found its way through to the Coast this Spring.

Such is the news that Steve Redgrave, of the R. E. McMorrin Garage, sent down to us yesterday. The feature in the item lies in the fact that Mr. Mitchell must have accompanying him through life as Briscoes.

Just now are as hard to get delivery of as sugar has been for the housewife until the lid was taken off prices.

The last Briscoe, as yet unattached, that will come into Victoria until Summer time landed during the week. It was not really destined for Victoria at all, but came as part of the Vancouver allotment. Reuben McMorrin, however, went to Vancouver and in such a hypnotic way asked why Victoria should be left Briscoe-less that he was able to bring the car back with him before the Vancouver men came to again.

From Jack Cartier, of Cartier Bros. 724 Johnson Street there was flashed the word to-day that the Spring rush for used cars is on and that people who therefore have been tempted to buy a used car on account of the low prices but have hesitated because they could not be certain of what they were getting can now go ahead and buy with the confidence of one taking a new article backed by the reputation of an old established firm.

This changed state of affairs has resulted from the introduction here of the Cartier guarantee, which gives the purchaser a complete money-back protection, that removes every element of chance.

Comes word of another motor-trucking feat. This time it is one of the new Ford trucks that has set the pace. The driver was G. Sheret who is conducting a freight and transfer business from 2330 Trent Street. With enterprise and confidence in his machine he loaded one and one-half tons of furniture on his one-ton Ford truck for delivery in Chemainus.

He not only beat a freight but also a passenger train on making the haul up over the Malahat. The family he did the hauling for are now boosters of the Sheret enterprise. Ford performance and ship-by-truck methods.

Despite lop-sided exchange rates, Garford trucks are being shipped out of the factory in the Eastern States, to England at the rate of 100 a month. The contract rate is 100 a week, but the demand for trucks on this side, shortage of material and labor are proving such a handicap to the export business that deliveries have been cut to one-quarter. A number of large English firms are standing on Garfords. That is the reason for the rush for them from across the Atlantic.

J. A. McAllister and H. W. Perry, These returned soldiers who did not have all initiative crushed out of them by drill sergeants overseas. Waiting for someone to give them a job at so much a month found the answer in their own managers. Now they have bought a new Garford heavy service truck for general haulage and transport, so that they will be able to get a reputation. In a business way they are known as the B.C. Motor Transport Co., of 1819 Douglas Street.

Speaking of Garfords, truck users are looking forward to the arrival of a special, heavy duty, fast hauler that is to arrive at the McMorrin Garage within a few days. It is the long chassis mounted on a wheel-base of 168 inches, and the two and one-half ton axle that will be able to stand anything.

There is just one thing that Gus Masters is looking forward to now and that is the day when he will occupy the big new garage being constructed for him on Yates Street, at the side of the Imperial Oil Company's Station at Quadra Street.

As Gus is concentrating on used cars, the rate at which he can sell is limited by the rate at which he can get them in. His present accommodation is inadequate and the facilities not as modern as his business instincts require.

Archie Muir, the returned aviator who was shot down above the German lines and spent the greater part of the war as a prisoner in Germany, is another optimist over the automobile business in Victoria. He has permitted Gus Masters to take him in as a partner because of his expertness in dealing with internal combustion engines. The two of them are planning to make a greater record than ever for the Masters used car firm.

To George Holloway's Ford belongs the distinction of making the first invasion of the north Indian's hunting grounds in a motor car.

He set out from The Pas with Supt. McDonald, of the Pas Lumber Company, Ex-mayor Finger and Oscar Finger, himself driving. They travelled the Saskatchewan river (in itself an historical epoch) and left it above the Carrot river.

Night overtook them up on the Siyehank, where they were below and the trails piled high with drifting snow. Nothing daunted they set out for a night run to their objective 80 miles away.

At midnight they were hopelessly lost. A blizzard was tearing down off the barren lands, and the trail became blind. The little old Ford was kept humming, and they tracked through the unbroken forest of spruce, making a new trail and bumping over fallen debris, and plowing through mountains of snows, throwing it aside like chaff.

At daybreak they hit an Indian settlement, and as they grew nearer they discerned shadowy figures running wildly towards the forest. The settlement was deserted, and not an Indian could be seen.

Overtures were made by yelling peaceful words, and eventually one warrior came forth and told the motorists to depart, as the Indians noted no truck with the "White Man's Devil" as they termed the Ford.

The party promised they would depart in peace if given directions to the Carrot camps. This done they climbed in, and the "Devil" shot away, the Indians returning to marvel at the wonder they had seen.

At What Season of the Year Should the Farmer Buy His Tractor?

From Alfred Carmichael

The records of retail tractor sales for more than five years past show that the farmers of America buy more tractors in April and September. And since these two months mark the opening of the busiest seasons of seed bed preparation, we are forced to conclude that our farmers wait until the very last minute before selecting their tractors.

But it is a practice which sooner or later will cost the majority of tractor owners a whole lot of trouble and delay and it has already brought discredit upon more than one worthy tractor. If our farmers are to get full value from their tractor investments they cannot wait until the season is on before buying.

Break in Tractors Slowly A tractor, like any other piece of hauling machinery, whether it is mechanical or alive, must be worked in gradually to bring out its full efficiency. No farmer would think of driving his horses at a mid-season pace after months of inactivity in the barn. He knows their limitations and so works them easily for only a few hours at first, gradually increasing the load and the hours as sinews harden and their wind improves. This method of building up horse flesh is such common knowledge that the farmer that he forgets or neglects to apply it to his tractor.

Even the lesson learned from their first automobile experience fails to impress our farmers as applicable to tractors. The auto dealers wisely cautioned them to take it easy at first. Some heeded the caution and became enthusiastic over their first machine, while others "stepped on the gas" right from the start and they got nothing but trouble and expense in return.

Buy Before Busy Season How much more this take-it-easy warning should be observed when starting a tractor is evident from the fact that a tractor motor does more than 20 times the work of an automobile at a though working-in. It will give ten times over to give the tractor the same care and attention.

No farmer will ever get all he is entitled to get from his tractor if he buys it the day or the week before he starts to plow. The tractor will do its level best of course—perhaps it will go through one whole season without a hitch—but he has shortened its life and in the end he will pay dearly for his last-minute purchase.

The time to buy a tractor is a month or two before it will be needed for the hard job of breaking ground and fitting the seed bed. The farmers who are going to buy this Spring will save money by making their purchases now. A month or more of easy work will get the new tractor "fit" for the strenuous day when it must sometimes work 24 hours without a stop.

Can Do Many Jobs There is no end of odd jobs which the tractor can do before Spring work opens. Each day it is used will help to make it more dependable when the heavy work comes along. Most wood lots have some fallen timber which should be skinned to the barn yard and sawed. The tractor will do both jobs and welcome the chance to limber up its gears. Or there is corn to shred, feed to grind, manure to haul, roads to clear of snow and ditches to run before the Spring thaw.

These odd jobs do two things which insure the successful operation of the tractor in the future. First of all they acquaint the owner with his tractor as nothing but actual use can do. They give him the "feel" of his machine and develop an "ear" for its song of satisfaction or cry of pain. Second they give the bearings a chance to work in and help the valves to seat more snugly. They fit piston rings to cylinder walls more perfectly than the most exact machine can do it and they limber up every gear and pinion much as the first days of easy work take the kinks out of a horse's shoulders and legs.

Once worked in and properly maintained, the tractor is as far ahead of the horse as the Twentieth Century Limited is ahead of the olden stage coach. But it cannot do its best without a chance to limber up. When the farmer buys his tractor a month or more ahead of the busy season and works up to his peak load gradually, he will get the maximum return from his investment. He cannot expect it in any other way.

By a $3,000,000 project for the construction of an enormous terminal, eight large rubber companies in Minneapolis, Minn., are to have a central sales building, making that city the second largest rubber centre in the United States.

If you take more gasoline out of the tank than you put in, the tank will run dry and the car will stop.—Canadian Ford Service Bulletin.

"The regular boulevard," Mrs. Blithers' returned the chauffeur. "But I never noticed all these thank-you-marms on the boulevard before," protested Mrs. Blithers.

"Oh," laughed the chauffeur, "those were not thank-you-marms, Mrs. Blithers! They were just a few people who couldn't get out of the way."

Whereupon Mrs. Blithers laughed, too. "What a droll mistake it was, to be sure!"—Pittsburgh Sun.

MIDWEST UTILITOR

The multitude of practical ways the Midwest Utilitor can be used is astounding farmers and food raisers the world over.

And every day is discovering new uses for the Utilitor. It is literally making over the whole popular conception of profitable soil cultivation.

The Utilitor is both a small tractor and a 4 horse-power portable gas engine. It does the field work of one horse or mule, goes from chore to chore on its own power, never tires and operates for ten cents an hour.

In all workable soil conditions it is dependable and unfailling. After months of re-search in all parts of America and after gruelling tests, special hitches for each implement and suitable rims for every possible soil condition have been perfected.

Keep abreast of power farming and power food raising development. The Utilitor is the latest word in this direction.

If you are an agricultural student, own a farm truck garden, fruit orchard or country place, you need the Utilitor. Complete information as to the design, construction, and any uses of the Utilitor that you may be interested in will be gladly sent on application. Address Sales Division N.

WHAT THE EXPERTS SAY

Leaving out the thief, the drunkard, and the criminal, no driver wants to run into anything or over anyone.

If he does so, it is either (1) his fault; (2) the fault of the thing or the person run into or over; or (3) unavoidable.

If, lacking desire, it was still the driver's fault, it must have been through failure to do the right thing, or because he did the wrong thing.

Lacking desire and intent to do damage to person or thing, when a motorist does it and its fault, is because he is ignorant.

Nobody wants to be run into or run over. You don't even have to except the criminal and the thief, the joy-rider and the idiot, here.

Consequently, when anyone is run into or run over and it is his own fault, the reason must be found in a failure to do the right thing, to avoid the accident, or in having done the wrong thing, which causes it.

In other words, the cause is ignorance.

So-called "unavoidable" accidents are frequently so called because of relieving one party or the other of any suspicion of having any sense, as when a small child runs directly in front of a car.

Ethically, such an accident may be the child's fault. Legally it may be considered unavoidable.

But if the former case is held true, then the answer, once more is ignorance.

Ignorance is the root of the so-called "reckless driving" evil and the remedy is not more laws but better laws.

It is not more punishment, but more education.

It is not in arming the general public with pistols to shoot the murderous high school girl driving Dad's flivver nor is it a statute designed to take away a coal truck from a coal company because a drunken driver happens to run into a lamp-post.

It is in seeing to it that no unfit person is allowed to drive a car.

When a fit person does drive a car, he does not need police supervision to prevent him from breaking a reasonable law.

This gets right to the practice of examination. An examination, as now conducted, is a joke.

Every one knows it, every one, even the officials concerned in it.

If any should have curiosity enough to ask "why are these laws 'jokes'?" the answer would be found in the fact that they are made by lawmakers who know nothing of their subject. . . . people of the same stripe of mind as the revered much-to-be-admired gentlemen who

Changing Speeds Is Difficult
For Driver Beginning
His Career

For the motor novice and the man who expects to own his first car this Spring, The Times is publishing a series of articles on construction and operation of motor cars. The fifth herewith tells something about the fine points of driving. More articles are to follow.

You have learned what your gasoline steed is, how it works, what it consumes for fodder and how the fodder is converted into miles per hour. Now it is time to learn to drive. The salesman or demonstrator may have shown you how to move certain pedals and levers so as to make the tin horse jog along, and how to move the levers and another pedal to make the critter speed up; but that is not driving. One trouble is that a lot of owners never get any further along than this pre-kindergarten dope.

You know, of course, that there is a change speed lever which enables you to start in low speed and then to go into second or high speed at will, or into reverse; that there is a clutch, you know, and that there is a pedal where you "step on the gas," and another which applies the brakes, and that there is still another lever called the emergency brake lever for use when the car is standing or if the other brake goes wrong, also for alternating with the latter on long hills. But do you know enough not to step on the gas every time some fellow wants to pass you, or you get in a tight place and think you can take a chance with a dash?

Don't Swish the Whip

But since you know all about the uses of these levers, which are modified in the case of the Ford, which has pedals for the speed changes, it will be unnecessary to tell you how to use them and it will be possible to tell you what not to do. First of all as to the clutch. If you hit your swish, or when the motorman starts the car with a jerk. The car jumps off, perhaps dragging the tires, certainly racking engine and car, besides yanking the daylight almost out of you. Nine-tenths of the motion of the clutch pedal may be made very quickly, and the last tenth, or from just before the clutch begins to engage until it is fully engaged, must be made slowly, so that the car is under way before the clutch is fully engaged and the pedal released. With a little practice you can start the car smoothly; until you can you are in the novice class still.

Take Time to Shift

Now, as to the change speed gears. We have seen a lot of novices, not able to change the gears noiselessly, drive around the block rather than turn in a narrow street. Don't join that class. With a little practice you can be a real driver, able to change gears without alarming the whole neighborhood. To do this, the hand is the chief stumbling block. In shifting into first speed, release the clutch, hesitate an instant in neutral (long enough to let the clutch stop spinning) and then shift quickly. In going to second, the car must be speeded up a little, the clutch pedal fully depressed and, hesitating again in neutral for an instant, make the shift. In the same way go to high speed.

Cut Out the "Coal Unloading"

It is easy to shift to a higher speed, usually. In spite of this ease, however, many create all sorts of grinds and crashes within the gear case. All such should take a half hour on a quiet street to try out shifting, practicing over and over until it is noiseless. Probably most of the practice will be needed in shifting to lower speeds. The process is exactly the reverse of the process of the preceding paragraph. The car must be slowed down and the clutch released slightly. Then, without hesitation, make a rapid shift. This does not mean that you are to hurry the process, but that when you start to shift you do it with celerity and confidence. Remember that practice makes perfect. Shifting to reverse must always be done when the car is standing still.

Turning gives many trouble, particularly if the street be narrow. One may easily tell the old horse driver at such a time. He will, when curving across the roadway, quickly reverse the steering wheel just before coming to a stop, so that it is almost set for the reverse curve. If you do not know just what this means, watch an old driver do it and you will at once grasp the move. Practice it until turning is easy.

Women More Careful

It is said that a Scottish laird who would hire a new coachman took the applicants to a narrow stretch along a cliff and asked how close they could drive to the edge with safety. One thought about a foot; another, bolder, could drive to the very edge; the third assured the laird that he never would drive any nearer than the far side of the road. He got the job. This is merely to indicate that not what you might do but what you regularly practice will fix your status as a driver.

One of the reasons why women have fewer troubles on the highway is that they are less inclined to take chances. They are not forever stepping on the gas to beat some one to it. Women's intuition, I suppose, tells them of danger, and they are not inclined to drive like a taxi driver.

CIRCUIT ROADS GOOD

Only Bad Spot Is Between Blaine and New Westminster, Reports Frank Bird.

Summing up the results of his recent automobile tour of the Georgian Circuit, Frank Bird, the secretary of the Vancouver Automobile Club, stated that, with the exception of the Pacific Highway between Blaine and New Westminster, which was extremely bad, the roads were in remarkably good condition. From Bellingham to Blaine the roads were all paved.

The roads on the northern slope of Vancouver Island were slightly rutted and the Lake Samish Road from Mt. Vernon to Bellingham was not very good. The waterfront route from Bellingham to Aliger was closed. The Hoods Canal roads were in splendid condition.

Lots of Summer places upon the Georgian Circuit were closed, but would all be open in another month. Mr. Bird, who was accompanied by Mrs. Bird, will be leaving the latter part of April for a tour all over British Columbia with a view to organizing branches of the Good Roads League in many places and making arrangements for the supply to the Vancouver Automobile Club of frequent bulletins regarding road information. He stated that during the present year the bad Pacific Highway road between Blaine and New Westminster will be paved.

OVERLAND SETS RECORD

Went Through Seven Day and Night Test Over Frozen Roads; Averaged 32.45 Miles an Hour.

Toronto, March 20.—Telegraphic information has been received by Willys-Overland, Limited, of the completion at Indianapolis of a record run of an Overland Four.

The car was driven 5,452 miles, continuously, in seven days and nights, over frozen country roads—and finished ready to do it again. This is an average of 77.2 miles per day, and an average speed of 32.45 miles per hour was attained. They had only one puncture. According to the wire, the car was one from stock, and the trip was made with the thermometer around zero. Neither power plant nor transmission had to be touched on the whole run.

Many of the raw materials, including the magnet and electric systems of the Spanish automobile production are imported from the United States.

A Genuine Utility Truck That Spells True Economy in Every Line of Business

Interest in a Motor Truck centres in its proven ability to transport goods economically. On this basis the Oldsmobile Economy Truck is entitled to premier consideration. It is a remarkable saver of time. Speedy, powerful. Driven by Torbensen Internal Gear rear axle and mounted on pneumatic cord-tires, it makes capacity-load deliveries in record time and in the best possible condition.

This positive ability to render dependably satisfactory service and the very low consumption of gasoline and oil are the chief reasons for the name Oldsmobile Economy Truck?

Why are these things true of the Oldsmobile Economy Truck? Because every unit—Motor Frame, Axles, Tires—in fact, every part from Radiator to Tail Light—has proven worth; is built to uphold the reputation for leadership that the name Oldsmobile has enjoyed for 21 years. Because the truck as a whole is the most desirable that sound engineering and ultra-thorough factory methods can produce.

CONCRETE ROADS

By EDWIN TOMLIN

Perhaps there is no other phase of American and Canadian national life more remarkable since the close of the Great War in Europe, than the demand for permanent highways, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. This demand is rapidly growing in strength as the expression of the will of two free peoples, until it has reached a stage where the civic, state, provincial and national governments of the day can no longer ignore the popular voice. All over the United States and Canada, people are intolerant any longer of a dirt or macadam highway, and both are doomed.

One might give a variety of reasons for this widespread demand for permanent highways. Some writers urge that the experience of the battle front showed conclusively that only roads of a permanent nature could withstand the terrific traffic inseparable from modern warfare. That the French macadam roads stood up at all is somewhat of a marvel, and was only possible through the small armies of men who were kept constantly at work, renewing the surface.

Breakdown in Railways.

Other writers urge that the breakdown through congestion of the railroad system in the United States during 1915 and 1917 was primarily responsible through the load thrown on the truck roads which they were unable to withstand. Other writers yet again attribute the present demand for permanent roads to the high cost of living commodities, claiming that the truck gardener, the dairyman, the fruit grower, the stock breeder, the farmer and other land workers, cannot be expected to deliver their wares economically to market if they have to travel over roads which are rutty and rough at the best of times, and like a ploughed field during the winter months. The value of time and effort as national assets of importance are realized more to-day than ever they were in the past, and the state has no right or mandate to compel its citizens to waste either travelling over poor roads when they might easily be conserved for use in other ways.

We have not yet exhausted the reasons which are given for the good roads propaganda which is with us to-day. The motor car enthusiasts are boldly and loudly proclaiming that the automobile has torn the heart out of the macadam and dirt roads, and that, seeing this form of locomotion promises to be all predominant in future, the roads must be made of a permanent nature.

Education has undoubtedly done a great deal towards fostering the present widespread demand for a national policy in regard to road building. The unfolding of ideas in this regard has been very slow, and to-day we simply marvel why our fathers and our grandfathers patiently contented themselves with the old-fashioned country highway. It may be argued that the traffic in those days did not tear up the roads so much as modern automobiles, but even so, some of us remember quite well how, in our childhood days, we looked upon mud on our roads as the natural sequence of the winter season of the year.

Pays to Be Dry.

Years ago we did not seem to have been so impressed with the idea as we are at the present, that it pays to keep out of the mud. Bad roads are the cause of a frightful waste of physical and nervous energy. A cry which is heard all over the world to-day is the necessity for greater production. Is it not rational to ask that the state, when making this demand upon the people, should itself take all reasonable measures to avoid waste of time and energy to useless ends? The artisan on his bicycle or on foot who has to travel a mile or two miles over bad roads in winter time to the factory, or workshop can justly claim unnecessary waste of energy in arriving at his place of employment. Bad roads and good roads are both matters of public interest and concern, a fact which is gathering strength year by year. If one could sum up the man power and horse power hours which are wasted annually all over the world through bad roads, we should be astounded at the loss of time and energy. Applied nationally, one can not help being reminded of the words of the late Mr. W. E. Gladstone, when he wrote, "Believe me when I tell you that thrift of time will repay you in after life with a usury of profit going beyond your most sanguine dreams, and waste of time will make you dwindle alike in intellectual and in moral stature beneath your darkest reckoning and calculation."

In meeting the popular voice and seeking to grapple with this widespread demand for permanent roads, the authorities are confronted with the all-important question of finance. The maintenance of the old macadam gravel and dirt roads has been more or less generally arranged by yearly appropriation from public revenues. The building of permanent roads in substitution for macadam, gravel and dirt roads cannot be financed in that way. As a result we see a great variety of proposals being placed before the public and governing bodies to meet the situation. The Automobile Associations suggest that automobile licenses should be earmarked for permanent road construction purposes, but this proposal is not sound, as it impairs the credit borrowing powers of a public body, and the principle were carried to excess, bonding houses would be very sceptical about raising money for Governments whose general revenues were earmarked for special purposes. Other suggestions for financing permanent roads have been along the lines of Government aid to municipalities, according as the road to be paved is of the main highway or semi-highway or ordinary country road. In countries like Canada and the United States it looks as though the final method of financing will be along the lines of Federal aid to the various States or Provinces, and a comprehensive system on the part of the latter to the cities and municipalities.

Best Type of Roads.

We now come to the general broad question of the best type of permanent road for present and future traffic. There are several roads of different composition, brick roads, granite sets, wood blocks and concrete. One may read reams of discussion by interested parties advocating their own particular class of road, and to attempt to be a judge in this matter is tantamount to inviting trouble from those who have axes to grind. It is possible, however, to state one or two essential features in a permanent road which form, as it were, a sort of standard specification.

Any so-called permanent road which requires a rigid base to ensure success cannot be classed as a road at all, but only as a top dressing. The asphaltic and bitulithic roads all fall within this category. Without a concrete or heavy rock or stone base they are only temporary expedients. Under the pressure of heavy traffic they become rutty, lose their crown, and in hot weather curl up in ridges

NEW ROAD SIGNS AND EMBLEMS FOR SUMMER

New road signs are to guide motor tourists over many dusty places on the Island Highway this summer.

Charles L. Harris, secretary of the Island Automobile Association, left to-day on a tour of the main roads with a carload of signs.

In connection with the Spring touring, the new club emblems, manufactured in Victoria by returned soldiers, have been delivered. They are of aluminum and enamel, and stand up over the radiator cap, as the European club emblems do. If the motorist does not want to put the emblem on the cap it can be detached to go on the front of the radiator.

The general meeting of the Victoria club will be held this week to make plans for the Summer.

where the subgrade has failed to withstand the weight of the traffic.

Roads composed of vitrified brick, wood blocks or granite sets, while possessing much greater wearing properties than asphaltic or bitulithic roads, at the same time are dependent again on a rigid base of concrete, rock or stone, as well as a cap of cushion to ensure a perfect crown. It will be quite obvious that these last three types of permanent pavement are very expensive if the base is properly prepared, as, of course, the latter is an expensive item in itself. Skipping the work on the base, however, would be vital to the success of either vitrified bricks, wood blocks or granite sets, as the weight of heavy traffic would rapidly destroy the crown of the road quickly dispelling any idea of the permanency of such a pavement.

There is only one road which can be truly said to be sufficient in itself, a road that is without a peer in strength and endurance. We refer to the concrete type. It needs no special base to rest upon, as in the case with asphaltic, bitulithic, brick wood blocks and granite sets types. Given a subgrade which has been properly rolled and graded, and the concrete pavement on top will provide the rest. In all other cases a properly rolled and graded subgrade is necessary, then a rigid base and on top the asphaltic, bitulithic, brick, wood blocks or granite sets in order to ensure success. In other words, concrete pavements only require two operations, while all other so-called permanent roads require three. From the standpoint of endurance and strength, concrete is superior to all of them, excepting perhaps granite sets if placed on a concrete base, but as is well known, this latter type of pavement is extremely expensive, and can, therefore, be ruled out of court as a factor for consideration in the broad permanent highways of the future.

Fourteen Years Ago.

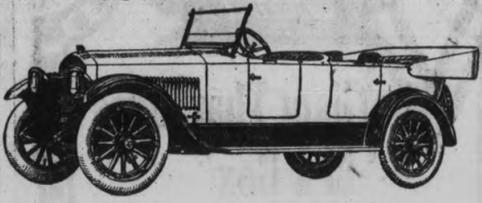

Concrete roads made a modest beginning in Wayne County, Michigan, fourteen years ago, and in Canada over twenty years ago. Wayne County, Michigan, is justly entitled to pioneer honors as a public body which for fourteen years without a break has steadily and persistently paved its roads with concrete, improving on the standard year by year until at the present time their roads are a model for the entire Continent of America. It is anticipated in a few years to have no less than 350 miles of concrete roads in this one small county of many thousands in the United States of America.

Concrete roads have not reached their present pre-eminent position without receiving a severe grueling at the hands of every state of engineering, road building, municipal, state and Federal opinion. The technical professors of universities, the skilled scientists of the Bureau of Standard, the State Highway Commissions of America and many other private and public bodies have all in turn demanded that concrete roads shall show just cause for their widespread use as a permanent pavement. It would require a very long article by itself, in fact a book, to describe the changes of method and the revolution in the building specifications which have taken place during the last fifteen years. Suffice it is to say that concrete roads have come through the ordeal absolutely triumphant, and from the indications which are now patent to the public everywhere, the concrete road bids fair to outstrip all others in general acceptance for future programmes. During the ten years ended December 31, 1919, there were laid in the miles of concrete roads, streets and alleys. The year 1919 alone shows the peak record to date when 53,000,000 square yards of concrete road were placed under contract. This yardage is equivalent to over 5,000 miles of concrete pavement 18 feet wide. During the present year, 1920, it is anticipated that there will be over 75,000,000 square yards of concrete roads constructed in Canada and the United States.

Moving Forward Irresistably.

Like a tide in flood the concrete type of permanent road is moving

STUDEBAKER Announcement To The Canadian People

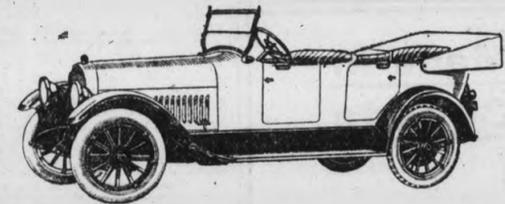

THE existing prices of Studebaker Automobiles were determined, as they have always been, on the basis of exact equality of value between the American and Canadian dollar. Prices will not be increased to cover losses in exchange unless they become considerably more serious than they are at present, which we believe is unlikely. This corporation is a Canadian industry, employing Canadian labor, investing its surplus funds in Canadian Government securities, depositing its working capital in Canadian banks, and paying large taxes to the Canadian Government. It respects and values the good will and patronage of the Canadian people, and will not take advantage of a temporary emergency to increase the prices of its cars.

Over the Top $1365 GRAY-DORT

F.O.B. CHATHAM WARTAX EXTRA

When the Gray-Dort was designed, our engineers had two definite orders. "Build an economical, simple, low-priced car." "Build a light car at least 50% stronger and finer and greater value than light-car purchasers have been getting."

The original Gray-Dort was built to these orders. Every improvement and refinement since that time has been in line with this policy.

And yet the price is only $1365. Note what you get in to-day's Gray-Dort for $1365.

A big motor—3 1/2-inch bore and 5-inch stroke—finely finished and smooth running. A forty-pound crankshaft, against the usual twenty-five pounds or so. Three-ringed pistons, instead of two-ringed. Cellular radiator, instead of tube and fin. Newly improved Carter carburetor. Improved Connecticut ignition. The starting and lighting system is Westinghouse, a big-car feature.

We designed a bigger and better rear axle for light cars—and we are having it built exclusively for the Gray-Dort here in Chatham. We solved the spring problem in the same way—and you'll realize what we've done when you see the long, cantilever rear springs of the Gray-Dort. We've set a new standard of safety by using Thermoid brake-lining. We've increased safety by building a steering gear 50% bigger and stronger. We've put in a bigger gas tank—and put it in the rear, with a vacuum feed system. Your comfort in driving or riding has been attended to. With a shorter cowl, there is more room in the driving department. There are several inches more leg-room in the tonneau. The side-curtains open with the doors. You sink into the seats at the most comfortable angle. The top is really a one-man top. The gears can be shifted with two fingers' pressure. The emergency brake is now on a lever. The instruments are handy.

When the Gray-Dort is just as outstanding in appearance. Its lines are the lines of the really fine big cars—reduced in proportion. It has big car style. There is not a line nor an angle which is extreme. And it has what no other car ever can have—the wonderful Gray-Dort finish which had its beginning 60 years ago in our body plant.

There are other style touches—many of them new this year. French-pleated upholstery. A hood with many long, narrow louvers. A particularly smart top, hand-tailored in our own shops. Lamps raised to a new location. Short, smart cowl. Straight top-edge to the body.

So much does the Gray-Dort dominate the field, that our production, doubled this year, will probably not meet the demand. We would advise you to see the Gray-Dort dealer now.

PRICES

The Gray-Dort 5-passenger car, finished in Gray-Dort green and black, and with standard equipment, is $1365 f.o.b. Chatham. Way tax extra.

The roomy 2-passenger roadster is the same price.

The Gray-Dort Special

For the man who wishes something a little extra in his car, we have built the Gray-Dort Special. Maroon body, with brown raynite top. Plate-glass rear window. Grey curtains. Rookie tan wheels. Motometer. Tilted steering wheel. Real leather upholstery. Mahogany instrument board. Just the touches which lift this car above the ordinary. $150 extra on the standard.

And the Ace!

The Gray-Dort Ace—the most beautiful light car of to-day. Sapper green body with handsome California top to match.

Trouble lamp and bull's-eye flashlight. Electric lighter. Rear-vision mirror. Plate-glass windows. Over-size grooved-tread tires. This is the de luxe car for the man who does not wish to pile up a tremendous operating cost. $255 extra on the standard.

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home, But It Beats Them All for Quick Results.

Thousands of housewives have found that they can save two-thirds of the money usually spent for cough preparation by using the well-known old recipe for making cough syrup at home. It is simple and cheap, but it has no equal for prompt results. It takes a right hold of a cough and gives immediate relief, usually stopping an ordinary cough in 24 hours or less.

Get 3 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) from any druggist, pour it into a 16-oz. bottle and add 1/2 pint of sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, keeps perfectly, lasts a family a long time.

It is truly astonishing how quickly it acts, penetrating through every air passage of the throat, loosening mucus and raising the phlegm, loosening and healing the membranes, and gradually but surely the annoying throat irritation and dreaded cough disappear entirely. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, hoarseness, or bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "3 1/2 ounces of Pinex," with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

TACOMA HAS AN IDEA.

In order to lengthen the life of the highways about the city, automobile dealers in Tacoma, Wash., are waging a campaign through newspapers and automobile clubs to end the practice of driving machine tracks. Road experts have estimated that the life of a road is shortened by fully 40 per cent due to motor car wheels following beaten tracks on the crest of the road.—Motor Life.

Freckle-Face

Now is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots.

Do you know how easy it is to remove those ugly spots that no one will call you freckle-face? Simply get an ounce of Othine, double strength, from your druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of freckles and get a beautiful complexion. The sun and winds of March have a strong tendency to bring out freckles, and as a result more Othine is sold in this month. Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine, as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

MAPLE LEAF

Built in Canada

VICTORIA DEALER WANTED

1 1/2 to 5 Tons Capacity

We believe the time has come to present to British Columbia the MAPLE-LEAF TRUCK. New to you, perhaps, but not an untried Truck. A Truck that has been built under the supervision of an eminent Consulting Engineer who specializes on Trucks. A Truck that has stood the test of performances for a number of years. A Truck built for the express purpose of working under Canadian conditions.

We want a wide-awake Dealer for Victoria. A Dealer who appreciates the fact that a great demand for Canadian built Trucks is at hand. A Dealer who is sufficiently alive to the situation to cash in on this demand. All arrangements will be made direct with the factory. Our representative is now in Vancouver. Write him at once giving full particulars.

Factory Representative,
Post Office Box 1265,
Vancouver, B. C.

Built in Canada by Canadians for Canadians—We believe the time has come for expansion in Canadian built Trucks. We believe that Canadians have awakened to the fact that when they buy a foreign-built Truck, they are not getting full value for their money. They realize that 42 1-2 per cent. of their money goes to the Government duty; and approximately 15 per cent. exchange. The result is that you pay double what a foreign built Truck is actually worth. The money you pay for a Canadian built Truck gives a legitimate profit to the manufacturer, a fair wage to Canadian workmen, and full Truck value to yourself. Your money remains in Canada, helps build Canadian industry, provides work for Canadian workmen and eventually benefits every Man in Canada.

"GAS" DEMAND WILL EXCEED SUPPLY IN TWO YEARS; MOTOR MAKERS WORRIED

Engineers Now Tackle Problem of Cutting Down Waste and Getting Increased Efficiency from Consumption; Substitutes Already Being Sought to Furnish Motive Power of Future.

By L. J. FAULKNER.

Washington, March 20.—Recent developments, as shown by the action of the navy in taking steps to economize on gasoline in anticipation of an acute shortage, coupled with the latest Government statistics as to available supply and estimated output, cause grave apprehension in the minds of those most vitally interested as to what the future has in store for users of gasoline.

At the present rate of consumption, and with the estimated increased demand, due to the constant additions to the ranks of automobile and truck users, indications point to the startling fact that within two years the surplus supply of gasoline will be completely exhausted; that is, our consumption demands will far exceed the supply.

What is the solution? The Society of Automotive Engineers has been very active in bringing together the necessary bodies in procedures to alleviate the internal combustion engine fuel problem.

Problem Is Under Study It has published a large amount of basic data pertinent in this connection and has gone deeply into discussions of specific apparatus intended to improve conditions in the burning of present-day gasoline in engines. It is now engaged in devising more applied efficiency in the delivery of power per gallon of gasoline, and in this, if successful, will lie a partial solution, at least.

When one stops to think that one of the most efficient motors built delivers but 37 per cent of transmitted power to the rear axle some realization can be had of the great waste of fuel, and to overcome this loss the greatest experts in the automotive trade are engaged.

Gasoline Use Increasing The constantly increasing new uses for gasoline and its adoption for hitherto unheard of purposes does not add to the clarity of the situation. The use of gas in manufacturing and transportation is fast increasing.

A great deal of saving could be made if willful and careless waste could be checked among owners. It has been estimated that fully 8 per cent of the gasoline delivered to consumers is wasted by carelessness in handling, by unnecessary use, and willful extravagance.

Seek Suitable Substitutes The substitution of other fuels has received consideration, but as yet no suitable substitute has been found. There is, from all reports, a very large supply of shale oil as yet unmined.

The following table graphically illustrates the trend of the auto industry since 1896, in the adoption of various types of units, and serves as an admirable guide to the prospective purchaser of a car as to what particular class of unit has stood the test of experience. These tables are based on the percentage of cars manufactured using the various types:

The decrease in four cylinders and increase in sixes is notable. While eighties increased in 1918, they decreased in 1920 to below the 1916 figures, while in the same period sixes increased from 41.1 in 1916 to 57.9 in the 1920 models.

As to type of cylinders, the "T" head shows the greatest decline, while the valve-in-head type has shown an increase since 1916, from 12.3 to 32.9 in the 1920 models.

In cylinder castings, the "en bloc" type has steadily held its own, starting in 1916 at 72.6 and remaining at 72.7 in the 1920 models. The type of "four" showed an increase of 4.3. Regarding engine cooling systems, the pump method has retained its popularity, increasing between the years 1916 and 1920 by 7.1. The air-cooled system is a recent innovation, but has shown an increase from the 1919 figures of 2 to 2.8.

Vacuum Feeds Popular In the method of fuel feed the vacuum system has shown a great increase in popularity, amounting to nearly 100 per cent of the total output. Starting in 1916 at 48.5 the 1920 models showed that 88.8 of all machines manufactured were equipped with vacuum feeds.

The style of clutch known as the "disc and plate" type has consistently held its own, and advanced in popularity. Starting in 1916 at 55 per cent, the 1920 models show 87.9 all the other system noticeably decreasing.

In the type of axle equipment, the floating type has decreased slightly, but still leads the rest by a comfortable margin. In 1916 the figures were 59, and those of 1920 models 47.2. During this same period the semi-floating type increased from 21.8 to 35.

These changes have not come about by any marked revolution in existing units already in use, but are due mostly to the new cars placed on the market. But it is safe to assume that these new manufacturers were guided in their choice of units by the experience of others.

Bodies Remain Same There has been no marked change in body construction during the last four years, due, perhaps, to labor conditions as much as anything, and also from the fact that the styles already in use were acceptable and could be improved only by the addition of a few refinements and perhaps made more commodious.

It is interesting in the light of these figures, to attempt a forecast of what the next four years will have in store. The question naturally arises: Will sixes give place to eights, and will eights give place to twelves? But for this to come about in either case would require a solution of the fuel consumption problem, as owners are now demanding, very emphatically, a low cost of upkeep and running economy. But if a method is discovered for fuel economy in the larger number of cylinders, they would, of necessity, be the ruling choice.

MUSIC IN THE HOME

MUSIC TO ASSIST IN CANADIANIZING THE FOREIGN-BORN

A unique method of assisting the Canadianization of small Mennonites in the settlement of Wurtz, Sask., has come into use with the installation of phonographs in the public schools. "O Canada," for example is played on the machine first, perhaps, by a band, for band music is particularly inspiring to the young. Then a vocal record of the song is put on, and when the children have learned words and melody they are taught the meaning and begin to sing. The phonograph is used also to furnish music for games and nursery rhymes, and the result of the entrance of the mechanical assistant has been the increased interest not only of the children but the parents as well. "The advantage of the phonograph in a place of this kind," says the teacher, "can only be faintly estimated by an outsider. Through it we have access to the best music. We hear the finest singers, and an ideal of music as well as the other educational features of the work is instilled into the children's minds. In turn they take their little songs and stories of the good times we have home to their parents and they come eager to hear our concerts."

There should be a phonograph and the best of records in every school. There is no better way of introducing to the non-English schools Canadian songs. It is propaganda of a fine type and is administered in the least objectionable way in which such work can possibly be done.

MUSICAL NOTES

W. S. Gilbert was one of the politest of men. A story is told of a rehearsal of the "Mikado" at the Savoy, how Jessie Bond in one of the scenes gave George Grossmith, who was the "Ko-Ko" of the opera, a push, and he rolled completely over on the stage. Gilbert himself was directing the rehearsal and, in his characteristically polite manner, he asked "Would you mind omitting that?" "Certainly, if you wish it," replied Mr. Grossmith, "but I could get an immense laugh from it." "So you would if you sat down on a pork pie," replied Mr. Gilbert quietly.

Fifty years ago the New York Oratorio Society gave its first oratorio, Handel's "Samson," in the old Steinway Hall. Next month this society will hold a festival, and the programme will include Mendelssohn's "Elijah." During its existence this society has given twenty-six great works.

A Hall of Music, to cost $250,000, and built something after the style of the New York Hippodrome, is to be erected in Lima, O. It is planned to have installed one of the finest organs procurable.

Sir Charles Stanford has written a grand opera named "The Travelling Companion," the second publication of the "Carnegie Collection of British Music." This opera was the choice of the judges in the 1919 competition and is a work that Britain may, indeed, be proud of. There is much fine music in the score, and the writing for the principals is admirable. The libretto, by Henry Newbolt, is founded on a tale by Hans Christian Andersen.

Mrs. Hammerstein has refused an offer of $125,000 for the Manhattan Opera House property in New York.

A chorus of mixed voices is now engaged in a motion picture theatre in New York. The innovation is meeting with great success.

The Boston Symphony Orchestra recently gave for the first time in its history a "Young People's Concert." Tickets were offered to the schools for sale, and so great was the demand that enough orders were sent in sufficient to fill the large hall for two concerts. There was a repeat performance given, and the famous orchestra is now considering the inclusion of similar concerts in its Winter season.

The church organists of St. Louis are threatening to strike for better pay. The average salary of a St. Louis church organist is $40 a month. Only three organists of that city receive $1,200 or more a year.

Hamilton Hartz, one of the strongest of the present-day generation of British musicians, has been appointed to the important post of conductor of the Halle Concert Society in Manchester. Let the question be asked, "What's wrong with the British musical world now?" Here we have Albert Coates at the Royal Philharmonic and the London Symphony Orchestra, Sir Henry Wood still the pioneer in charge of the Queen's Hall Symphony Orchestra, Hamilton Hartz in Manchester and Sir Thomas Beecham at Covent Garden and elsewhere. Well, things are indeed looking up!

The Anglo-French Music Company is offering prizes for the best original programme of pianoforte music, and the music publishing house of Messrs. Chappell is offering a prize of $1,000 for a light suite for orchestra.

The Bolshevik Government has a Commissariat of Education and Art in one by name Lunacharsky, a life-long revolutionary and an ardent admirer of Lenin. He is a man of tremendous energy, a hater of religion, but is constantly striving for the education of the masses. He has initiated free entertainments, theatres, operatic performances and cinematographs for the working classes and scholastic institutions. The theatres are thus kept thoroughly occupied. But very few new works are performed, and the repertoires, both of theatre and opera, consequently consist of the same old rut of the last fifteen or twenty years. The Bolsheviks fully realize the value of the theatre as an institution of propaganda to popularize their regime. They keep the theatres open at all costs and the artists are better paid and receive larger food rations than the general population. Actors and musicians are also exempted from military service. The conservatories still continue to exist, but the students are now no entrance examinations, all tests, the diploma, and, indeed, of any educational form, has sadly reduced the standard of musical education in the conservatories of Petrograd and Moscow, which, formerly were of such high standing. Education in the conservatories and universities is now universally free. Composition, except of topical revolutionary music is at a standstill. The administration of all musical affairs under the Commissariat of Education and Art is in the hands of Arthur Lourier, a pianist of extreme modern tendencies, who was unknown before the Bolshevik Revolution.

One of the important results of the New York musical festival held during the first week of last month was the endorsement of a national conservatory plan and the setting aside of a fund of $250,000 toward the inauguration. A novel suggestion for collecting this amount is the contribution of $25 for each musical instrument sold during the year, the merchants pledging themselves to collect the necessary amount of the fund. Another issue of the week's festival was the resolution to start a nationwide campaign for the appreciation of music, to be conducted by the Music Industries Board of Commerce.

Anglicans Collected $97,000 For Forward Movement; Details by Parishes

A public meeting of Anglican Church members in the city and district will be held next Friday evening at eight o'clock in Christ Church Cathedral schoolroom, with R. Ross Sutherland as chairman, to receive reports from all parishes of results to date of the every-member canvass for the Diamond Jubilee-Peace Thankoffering and to discuss suggestions made for the strengthening of Church life throughout the district and diocese.

A new interest on the part of the laymen and women as a result of the Church's Forward Movement is clearly manifest, and a number of committees at various island points have already submitted proposals for developing and extending the spirit of co-operation which so far characterized the activities of the movement.

All parish chairmen in the Diocese are receiving invitations to attend Friday night's meeting, and it is hoped that from the neighborhood canvassers and members of committees, together with other church workers, will be present in full force. Teachers from city Sunday Schools are also expected in large numbers. R. Ross Sutherland, chairman of the Diocesan Executive Committee, will preside and the Bishop of the Diocese, Right Rev. C. D. Schofield, has signified his intention to attend.

Thankoffering Fugd Grows.
 Subscriptions received through the Diamond Jubilee-Peace Thankoffering Fund for the objects of the Anglican Forward Movement amount to nearly $7,000, and it is confidently hoped that with the co-operation of every parish chairman, the Diocesan Executive will be able to announce at Friday's public meeting that the sum of $100,000 has been subscribed. In announcing the passing of the three-million-dollar objective of the Anglican Forward Movement financial appeal in the Dominion of Canada, the executive committee draw attention to the fact that the original financial objective of the movement was based on the minimum requirements of the Church, and present demands for more efficient and intensi-

COLUMBIA AUXILIARY HEARS FIRE REPORTS

Appeal For Children's Clothing For Mission Destroyed By Fire

The monthly meeting of the Diocesan Board of the Columbia Women's Auxiliary was held yesterday in the new Memorial Hall of St. Mary's, Oak Bay, where the President of the Parochial W. A., Miss Cowley, and the Rector, Rev. G. H. Andrews, expressed their great pleasure at being able to receive their visitors.

The Diocesan President, Mrs. Belson expressed the admiration felt by all for the beautiful hall, where it is hoped many happy gatherings will be held.

There was an attendance of over seventy officers and members, among them being two visitors from Quappelle Diocese, Mrs. Brockman and Mrs. Skinner, and Mrs. Morfill from South America with Miss Wright, all of whom were welcomed. As there has been no meeting since January, owing to health conditions, there was an accumulation of business, and arrangements for the Diocesan annual meeting were also considered.

Annual Meeting.
 The date decided upon is May 6, 7 and 8, and a special executive meeting is called for Wednesday next to make final arrangements. After considerable discussion it was decided that only reports of city branches should be condensed for the annual meeting, the country branches reports will be read by an appointed delegate from each branch.

All officers requested that yearly reports should be sent in as soon as possible after the branch annual meeting, and the Literary Secretary asked that all books shall be returned to the W. A. Library by the first week in April. The library is open every Monday afternoon from 2.30 to 4 p. m. A special meeting of all literary secretaries is to be held on Friday afternoon next at Mrs. Norrish's house, 2615 Rose Street, Hillside car.

Appeal for Clothes.
 Mrs. Norrish was appointed convener of a meeting of all presidents of girls' branches to make arrangements for the annual meeting of the Girls' W. A. In the absence of Miss Turner, who is Diocesan Secretary, no one has been available to carry out her work as Girls and Candidates Secretary. The corresponding Secretary, Miss Rye, read a special appeal for children's clothing, new or second hand, for the girls of the Diocese, at Prince Albert, where the boarding school and entire contents have been destroyed by fire, mercifully without loss of life. Dorcas Secretary, Mrs. Heatherbell, having met with a serious accident, resulting in a broken arm, a vote of sympathy was passed, and Mrs. Heatherbell, who sincerely wishes for a speedy recovery.

New Branches.
 The Junior Secretary, Mrs. John Harvey, reported having received seventy dollars towards pledges during the past two months. From three of the junior branches, the organizing Secretary, Mrs. Dickson, reported that she hoped her long to have fully organized branches at Duncan, Senior, Girls' and Junior. At present in process of formation. No branches are enrolled until members fees are paid, the secretary stated, but she hoped to be able to place these branches on the list soon.

Address by Bishop.
 The Noon Hour prayers were read and the address given by the Rector, the Rev. G. H. Andrews, and at the afternoon session the meeting had the pleasure of an address from Bishop Schofield, somewhat of the nature of a farewell address, as the Bishop and Mrs. Schofield are leaving early in April for London.

The meeting endorsed the promise, voiced by the Diocesan President, that the work so near the heart of the Bishop, the Forward Movement, should be carried on by Columbia W. A., faithfully, during his absence. After the singing of the Doxology, tea was served by the members of St. Mary's W. A., and a short informal and social time was spent.

TO USE FUNDS FOR TUBERCULOSIS WORK
 Interchurch World Movement Wants Sanitarium in Phoenix, Arizona
 New York, March 20.—Because it is now believed that the good health of people has a close relation to their spiritual life, the modern church is becoming more and more interested in the physical well-being of its communicants and of the people at large, says a bulletin just issued by the Interchurch World Movement of North America, from its headquarters. It is pointed out that the Protestant churches, which have not hitherto been engaged in entering the fight on tuberculosis, are now entering into the movement, will soon make a trip from New York to Arizona to attend to certain details of the undertaking.
 "The situation to be met in Phoenix is a serious one. To that city with its population of 60,000 come each year 3,000 to 5,000 sufferers from tuberculosis, attacked by the high, dry air, and the result is a high death rate, and a large number of being curative of their disease. Many of them are without money or means of support. The present facilities of caring for them, the health authorities report, are practically negligible. And since these tuberculous patients come from the entire country, their care should be the problem of the entire country."
 Church's Awakening
 The tuberculous hospital to be erected in that city is an earnest of the Protestant Episcopal Church's awakening to a sense of responsibility for the body as well as for the spirit. It is pointed out that foreign fields this responsibility long has been assumed by the medical missionary, whose record is pointed to with pride by the church. Meanwhile, similar work at home has been sadly neglected.
 "Thus far the survey made by the Interchurch World Movement has revealed the fact that other than the institution at Phoenix there are only two sanitariums for the care of tuberculous patients under the auspices of the Protestant churches, which are co-operating with the Interchurch World Movement. One of these is the Presbyterian Southwest Hospital at Albuquerque, N. M., equipped with 100 beds, twelve of which are free. The other is the Methodist sanitarium also at Albuquerque, with fifty-six beds and none of them free.
 "This new undertaking will bring the tuberculous patient abreast with the work being done by the National Jewish Hospital Association, in whose splendid sanitarium at Denver, Colo., every bed is free and Jews and Gentiles alike are received there."
 Young People's Community Club—The Young People's Community Club of Oak Bay is again in its normal state of activity after the long spell of influenza. The Club, which is open to all young people of Oak Bay over sixteen years of age, meets every Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the parlor of St. Columba Church, Oak Bay, and is developing the literary and social sides of life. On Tuesday last some forty members of the club made an interesting surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wright, Fowl Bay Road, (nee Miss Lillian Gravin). A most enjoyable evening was spent in the way of music and games, thanks to the hearty hospitality of the young hostess. On Tuesday next the club will be entertained by a box social, when surprising delicacies in dainty boxes will be furnished. Talented musicians will furnish abundant entertainment.

THE AFTER EFFECTS OF THE INFLUENZA OFTEN VERY SERIOUS

The Danger Seldom Over When the Acute Stage Is Passed--Victims Are Left Weak, Tired and Mentally Depressed--Tonic Treatment Is Strongly Recommended

No pestilence in years has caused more widespread suffering than the epidemic of influenza which swept over Canada in the fall and winter of 1918-19 and again this winter. The danger from this trouble is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms, the fever, headache and the depression of spirits have passed away. Influenza leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves. Men and women who were robust before stricken with influenza find their bodies racked by pains previously unknown to them. This condition is due to an abnormal thinning of the blood and leaves the system an easy prey to other serious troubles. This is the time when the convalescent from influenza should build up the blood, with a reliable blood-making tonic such as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Weak blood means impoverished nerves, impaired digestion, a feeling of tiredness after even slight exertion, and sometimes even more serious symptoms. When the blood regains its rich red quality the nerves recover their strength and the organs of the body function naturally. In fact building up the blood will vitalize the whole system.

WEAK AND DEPONDENT.
 The experience of Mr. Andrew Marty, Bathurst, N. B., will prove of value to a host of influenza sufferers who still suffer from the effects of the disease. Mr. Marty says: "The new life and consequently new hope brought into my life through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is almost beyond my power of expression. Following a severe attack of influenza in 1918 I found myself rapidly falling in health, and was naturally much alarmed. I began to lose in weight, could not eat, did not sleep well, and in a word I was reduced to a mere shadow. I was forced to discontinue work because of my weakened condition and things had a very blue outlook. I tried a number of suggested remedies, but without benefit. And then one day Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were suggested to me. I acted on my friend's advice, began taking these pills and soon felt an improvement. Every day I seemed to grow stronger, and after four weeks' treatment I felt fully restored to my old-time health. From my own experience I feel that, if given a fair trial, there is no medicine superior to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in building up a run down system."

THE TIRED FEELING GONE.
 Mrs. E. Mae Pothier, Glace Bay, N.S., is another who has found the way to new health following a severe attack of influenza. She gives her experience as follows:—"Last Winter I suffered from an attack of influenza, and being somewhat anaemic when the attack came on. I had a very hard time of it. For days I had a high fever and had to keep to my bed for some weeks. When I finally was able to get up I found that the trouble had left me in a thoroughly weakened and rundown condition. My eyes were dull, the color had entirely left my face, and my appetite was so poor that I hardly ate enough to keep me going. I was always craving for something different from what I had to eat, and when I got it a taste was all I wanted. My nights, even though I felt exhausted, were restless, and when morning came I would rise so weak and worn out I could hardly dress and get down stairs. At this stage a friend who is in the drug business suggested that I try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Following this advice I had not been taking the pills long when I felt an improvement, and by the time I had taken five or six boxes I felt like a new person. The old tired feeling was a thing of the past, my appetite had fully returned, and my Spring I was in a strong and healthy condition. From my experience I can gratefully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to those in a weak or run down condition."

GAIN WELL AND STRONG.
 Further proof of the undoubted value of this family tonic is offered by Mr. Ronald J. Gillis, Margaree Harbor, N.S., who says:—"I suffered from an attack of influenza last Winter, and after getting over the acute stage of the disease, I experienced the usual dire after effects. I was left weak and run down, and although my appetite seemed to be all right I did not gain strength and would get all fagged out, with even very light work. As this condition persisted I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a box of which my brother had purchased for me. Largely, I confess, as an experiment as I had never used the pills before. By the time the box was gone I began to notice beneficial effects, and I continued taking the pills throughout the Spring, and by the first of May felt as strong and as well as ever I did in my life. The pills had brought me renewed strength and vigor, had improved my appetite, purified my blood and I am sure will prove equally beneficial to others who may be suffering from impaired or an impoverished condition of the blood."

A MEDICINE WORTH TRYING.
 Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic not a stimulant. They build up the blood, and not only the disastrous after effects of influenza, but also troubles due to poor blood, such as anemia, rheumatism, indigestion and the generally worn-out feeling that affects so many people, disappear. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ARTIFICIAL LIGHT AS REAL DAYLIGHT

A NEW form of artificial lighting which has aroused widespread interest among illuminating engineers is the invention of Mr. George Sheringham, an English artist and designer. This device produces daylight artificially and enables colors to retain their true values under artificial light.

One does not often connect artists with mechanical invention and Mr. Sheringham has been known hitherto by his decorative work on silk, fans and panels, which has given him a place of his own among lovers of the beautiful in color design. But, properly considered, it is not surprising that the invention of artificial daylight should have been conceived by the brain of an artist, for his work lies in the world of color and light is color.

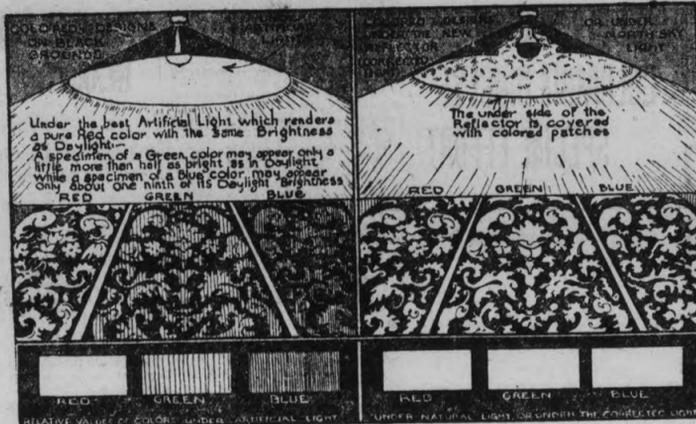

THE significance of this simple scientific fact is too often lost sight of in considering the problem of lighting and illumination. One is so accustomed to regard paints and pigments, dyes and stains as being "colors" that it is often forgotten that in reality, these are simply materials that reflect a particular colored light or a combination of colored light—that the color itself is not in the material, but in the light that shines on it.

It is in this that daylight differs so widely from artificial light. Daylight, the clear white light of a north window beloved of artists on account of its comparatively unvarying value, consists of rays of light of all colors mixed in a certain proportion. Artificial light contains, it is true, all these colors, but the quantity of red and yellow rays exceeds so much the blues and violets that dyes and pigments, when examined under it, take on a totally different hue as compared with their appearance in daylight.

The problem, then, which Mr. Sheringham set himself to solve was how to obtain a light which reduced the red and yellow rays of artificial light, and increased the blue and violet rays which form such a notable feature of daylight when viewed through the spectroscope. That he has done so no one who has seen the apparatus can doubt. Under the new light, blues and greens shine out as brilliantly as the reds, instead of being diminished to about one-ninth and one-half respectively, as is the case when viewed under an ordinary electric bulb. Delicate gradations of grays and blues become easily apparent, and "navy" blue loses that black appearance which it takes on under artificial light, and is seen again in its true color. Yellows again, the finer shades of which are so difficult to distinguish that many artists find it necessary to keep them on a separate palette when painting in the evening, can be distinguished as easily as in bright daylight, a point which will appeal strongly to artists, who so often find the hours of daylight too short for the work that has to be crowded into them.

How COLORS Are GIVEN Their TRUE VALUES

The most extraordinary changes, too, are found in the purples and violets, which lose that distressing red tinge that so mars their splendor. White, which by its very nature can never be seen under artificial light, shows itself again in its intrinsic beauty—a most convincing proof of the reality of the change which this invention has effected in artificial lighting.

The apparatus itself consists of a shade, on the under surface of which is a colored design, carefully worked out in accordance with a mathematical formula. The light from an electric bulb is thrown on to this surface in such a manner that all the rays strike the shade and are diffused into the surrounding atmosphere. The transformation into "daylight" is effected by the nature, proportion, and grouping of the colors, which have the effect of absorbing the excess rays from the red end of the spectrum and apparently reinforcing (for, be it noted, color is only a sensation of the optical nerve; the actual number of rays cannot, of course, be increased) those rays found toward the violet end, in which artificial light is so deficient.

The apparatus, in a simple form, was first worked out and used by the inventor in his own studio during the autumn of 1918. Later, it was shown to Maj. Klein, adviser in color physics to the Calico Printers Association and of formerly head of the experimental department of the Camouflage School, who immediately grasped its importance as a factor in color industries.

As to the uses to which the invention can be put, a few words will suffice. Artists, the quality of whose work depends in a great measure on the quality of their light, to whom a light which shows "false" colors is only one degree better than no light at all, will doubtless welcome it with enthusiasm. Indeed, there are indications that the art schools of today are as well aware of its possibilities as the color craftsmen of commerce, but it is among the latter, the color printers, the wallpaper manufacturers, the dye works, the textile trade, all that intricate mass of interdependent industries into which color enters, who now depend upon daylight for that matching and grading of colors which is the very keynote of their success—it is among these that Mr. Sheringham's invention will make its strongest and most lasting appeal.

How MATCHES Are MADE

COMPARED with the antiquity of the knowledge of fire making, the match is of quite recent invention. It is said that the first match was produced in 1680, when splints of wood, dipped in sulphur, were ignited by friction with a bit of phosphorus, apparently much after the manner of a modern match. But the phosphorus was too costly at that time for general use, and probably there was also too much danger of accidents in the use of this material. The effort was not a success.

The first apparently practical match was produced about 1807, when a French experimenter produced a match made of a slip of wood, a portion of which was coated with sulphur, and the end tipped with a mixture of potassium chlorate and sugar. This match was ignited by being brought in contact with sulphuric acid, which caused the sulphur and sugar to burn by the rapid decomposition of the chlorate, and from this time the development of the match began. At first the ordinary yellow phosphorus was generally used, but as it is a dangerous poison, much disease resulted among the workers in match factories. This difficulty was later overcome by the development of a modified form of phosphorus, and now the red, or amorphous, form is generally used.

One of man's daily necessities to which little thought is given is the match, and it would be interesting to know how many millions of these little fire producers are consumed in the world every day, for the number must be enormous. It is but natural that machinery should become an important factor in the making of matches, and necessarily so on account of the enormous numbers that must be produced to supply the daily demand of the world. But although America took the lead in the development of this machinery, the United States does not produce enough matches to meet its home demands.

A writer in The Scientific American gives the following interesting description of how matches are made:

In the early days of match-making the wood for the splints was sawed into blocks, and then split into the little splints we are familiar with, but the latest and most rapid method is to cut the logs of wood into a thin veneer, and then to cut the splints in enormous numbers from a number of layers of veneer piled together.

Although the process of making matches is comparatively simple, without the aid of very ingenious machinery it would be impossible either to supply this very necessary article in the great quantities required, or at so reasonable a price as they command in the market today.

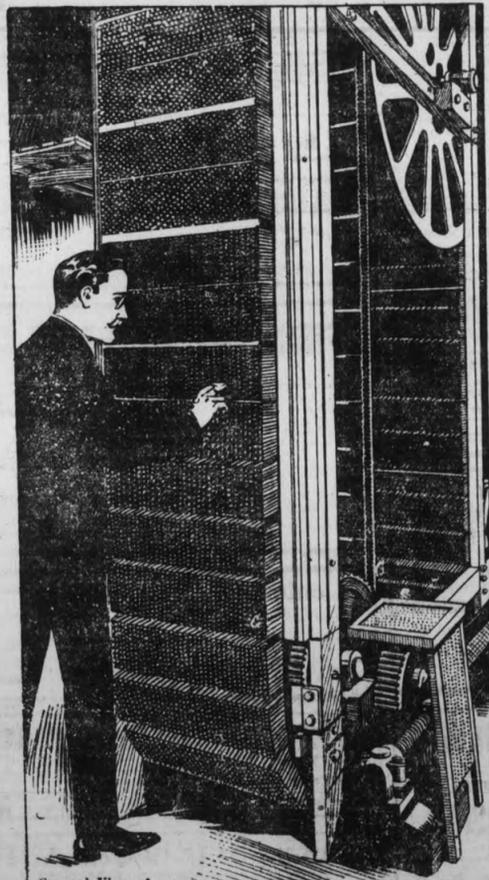

From the cutting machine the splints are sent to kilns, where all moisture is dried out and they drop down stairs to an apparatus that straightens out the splints and lays them in straight piles. The splints are then automatically stuck into square frames that are attached to endless chains that run slowly through the dipping machine. Ordinarily the splints are first dipped in paraffin in such a manner that about one-fourth of the outer end is immersed, following which they are tipped with the ignition compound, which is applied in two operations.

The composition of the first dip is made up of potassium chlorate, glue, glass powder and filler, which is poured into a trough into which a slow moving roller dips, and picks up the composition on its surface. As the endless chain of the dipping machine carries the frames of splints along the ends of splints come into contact with the coated roll, and receive the first dip. Then the carrying chains move slowly up and down over a series of rollers, in order to allow the first coating to dry before applying the second dip.

The second dip consists largely of chlorate of potash, red phosphorus, glue and some filler, and after this is applied the frames are again carried forward slowly until the composition is dry, when the matches are automatically forced from the frames and sent to the packers.

The above is a general description of the process of making a match, but there are many variations in detail, and also in the composition used. Sometimes the splints are given but one dip, in which case the compound used is made up of all of the materials mentioned above; and a variation of the method is to soak the splints in a solution of sulphate of magnesium, alum or sodium phosphate before dipping in order to prevent the burned stems from smouldering.

Safety matches are made in a similar manner to the above, but in these the match carries no phosphorus in its head and in order to ignite it the match must be drawn over a surface coated with phosphorus such as is found on all boxes of safety matches.

GLASSES That ARE a HELP to HEARING

HAVE your eyes and ears gone back on you? Then here is a way to get the best of both the offending members at once by using a combination eyeglass and ear-trumpet, as described in Popular Science Monthly.

These novel ear-trumpets are made of a light-colored transparent material and are attached to the sides of the eyeglasses. At the outside end they are large—about the same size as the lenses, but they taper down until, by the time they reach the ears, they just fit within.

Though a head-on view of this device looks like a double pair of eyeglasses, the inventor explains that they are "as inconspicuous as possible." They are likewise said to be very easy to wear and quite comfortable. Their convenient compactness is, of course, the chief point in favor of this unique invention.

Ground Floor Furnace That Gives the Effect of an Open Fireplace

FOR long periods of severely cold weather the open fireplace has very little to recommend it besides its romantic charm and aspect of cheerfulness. As a waster of fuel for the heat developed the open fireplace has few equals, if any, and as for attention a very sick baby scarcely requires more.

One builder, however, has developed a heating plant that is said to preserve all the charm of an open fireplace with none of its disadvantages.

Between the living room and one of the outer walls, in the new heating arrangement, as described in the Illustrated World, is a partition of brick, into which is set a firepot with an inclined magazine coal feeder, on the principle of the well known base burner stove. The opening of the magazine is in the room formed between the partition and the outer wall, which also has a coal bin, filled through a window in the outer wall.

Above the firepot is a small boiler, and a supply pipe for the radiators rises from the top of the boiler, concealed in the partitions, to a distributing header in the attic.

From this header pipes are run down the partitions, penetrating the walls at the tops of conventional radiators in the several rooms.

From the bottom of the radiators the cooled water is returned to the lower side of the boiler, through pipes laid just below the flooring.

It will be seen that the radiators do not form the highest point in the circulating system, but are a part of the return flow to the boiler from the header in the attic, but the boiler being in one leg of the thermo-siphon system, and the radiators in the other, the same difference in weight between the two columns that makes any hot water heater system work, is the force that distributes the heat throughout the house.

As a matter of fact, this system is an enlargement of a regular automobile thermo-siphon cooling system.

The front of the heater, which is the firepot of the "base burner," opens into the living room through mica windows, and the fireplace effect is heightened by introducing the conventional mantel above it.

Why WILD DUCKS DIE From EATING SHOT

WILD ducks and other water fowl sometimes die from lead poisoning resulting from swallowing stray shot which they pick out of the mud about shooting grounds. Many ducks that become sick from lead poisoning finally recover, but it is probable that the effect is permanently injurious not only to the individual but to the species. It has been ascertained by experiment that lead greatly impairs the virility of male domestic fowls. Females mated with them lay many unfertile eggs, while in many of the eggs that are fertilized the embryo dies in the shell or the chick emerges weak and unable to withstand the hardships of early life.

These facts are set forth by the United States department of agriculture in bulletin 793, "Lead Poisoning in Waterfowl." Reports of waterfowl apparently sick from lead poisoning have been coming in for several years.

The bureau of biological survey of the department of agriculture undertook an investigation at various shooting grounds to determine how common the taking of shot by waterfowl is, and a series of experiments to ascertain the effect of shot swallowed. It was found that at places where much shooting is regularly done from blinds, shot at the bottom of the shallow water are so numerous that one or more was found in practically every slevful of mud or silt, and that they are swallowed by waterfowl whenever found, as a result of the habit of swallowing small hard objects to supply grit for the gizzard. The experiments have shown that shot swallowed are gradually ground away in the gizzard and pass into the intestines, producing a poisoning that results in progressive paralysis and, usually, death.

Experiments with wild waterfowl captured when young and reared in captivity—to obviate the possibility of their having taken lead before the beginning of the experiments—have shown that six pellets of No. 6 shot constitute an amount of lead that is always fatal. Two or three shot were sufficient to cause death in several instances. In one experiment, two mallards were given one No. 6 shot each. One of them died in nine days and the other was able to throw off the poison.

The CHURCH That Is MADE of SEAL SKINS

UNDOUBTEDLY one of the queerest churches ever known was that constructed by a missionary on Blacklead Island, in Cumberland Sound. The missionary found that the Eskimos had no place in which they could meet for religious services, whereupon he started to build a church of the skins of seals, no wood or other suitable material being available. The skins were sewn together, and stretched over "girders" of whalebone, empty provision tins serving as seats.

Unfortunately, the cold became so intense that for many days the Eskimos were unable to procure food for themselves or for their animals. One night dogs made their way to the strange edifice and began consuming it, with the result that when morning came there was not a skin left, the whalebone ribs alone remaining to show that there had ever been a church.

Another missionary in charge of the spiritual welfare of an Eskimo tribe, built his church entirely of snow. Seats, pulpit, altar and, in fact, the whole of the interior equipment was made of snow, and it is worth noting that the missionary left it on record that in the matter of warmth no stone-built church could beat it.

Of the world's cathedrals, probably the most curious is that which crowns a hill in Uganda. In appearance it resembles nothing so much as a mountain of grass, although on closer inspection one is able to see that mud and wood have been extensively employed. The place can accommodate 4000 people with ease, and on week days is used as a school for the surrounding districts.

EVANS ASHORE IN SEYMOUR NARROWS

Efforts Being Made to Float Vessel To-day From Muddy Bottom

The Steamship Admiral Evans, 3,000 tons, grounded last night in a thick fog in Duncan's Bay, between Cape Mudge and Seymour Narrows.

Efforts to float the Admiral Evans will be made in the 3 o'clock tide to-day, according to the Seattle office of the Pacific Steamship Company.

NAVAL BOYS VISIT HARBOR MARINE YARD

Youthful Seamen Entertained and Shown Over Steel Ships

This afternoon the members of the Boys' Naval Brigade paid a visit to the steel shipbuilding plant of the Harbor Marine Company, Ltd., on the Songhees Reserve.

The embryo seamen were met at the yards by President C. J. V. Spratt and other officials of the company and later were piloted around the big steel ships under construction at the plant to the order of the Canadian Merchant Marine.

During the afternoon the boys were treated to sumptuous delicacies provided at the "Ritz-Carlton" and left highly delighted with the generous and courteous treatment accorded them by the officials of the plant.

Efforts are being made to promote inter-city competitions with a view to greater efficiency and the officers of the Boys' Naval Brigade expect that the organization will be completed to permit the staging of the competitions this Summer.

BACK FROM SERVICE WITH NAVAL PATROL

Lieut. Ashley Cooper Returns From North Russian Waters

Lieut. Ashley Cooper, after four years with the British naval service in European waters, returned to the city to-day, accompanied by his bride.

He spent the major part of the day in looking up his old friends and acquaintances on the waterfront.

Four years ago Lieut. Cooper went overseas with the motorboat patrol and, after performing good service with the anti-submarine branch of the navy in the North Sea, he volunteered for service in North Russia and was stationed at Archangel for several months last year.

One of his fellow officers with him at Archangel was Lieut. Walter Hillman, formerly in the reportorial staff of The Vancouver Province, and now associate editor of the "Pacific Motor Boat," a well-known yachting journal.

Lieut. Cooper, whose home is at Parkville, prior to his enlistment in the naval service, was purser aboard various coast steamships of the C. P. R. and G. T. P. fleets.

the same name lived on the same stair, and a Christmas parcel of delicacies intended for the one was delivered to the other.

Still more awful was a similar mishap in a Manchester warehouse. A newly-appointed manager forbade his staff to accept Christmas presents, stating that he himself never did so.

Not long afterwards a very fine goose came for him. This was distinctly awkward, but he extricated himself by remarking that the bird must have been sent for a subordinate of the same name as his own, and giving him permission to accept it.

After Christmas the recipient of the windfall approached the manager, and stated that when his wife began to stuff the goose she found inside it an envelope containing a £10 note.

"Well," said the chief, gulping down something in his throat, "that also must have been sent for you."

The prizes were awarded as follows: Best dressed lady, Mrs. F. McKie; best dressed gentleman, J. Jonard; best lady's national character, Miss McKennie; best flower girl, Miss Quaggin; best sustained character, Miss Fisher; best Irish character, Miss Tyler; best Irish character (gentleman), T. A special prize was awarded to Miss Greenaway and the prize for waiting to Mrs. T. Hodges and M. J. Bennie. The judges of costumes were Mrs. Beck, Mrs. McIntosh and C. Webster; and for waiting, Mrs. Sherrocks and Messrs. W. H. Saddall and E. B. Day.

Grant to Fund. As the nucleus of a fund to provide uniforms and equipment for the Nanaimo Boys' Navy, a grant of $400 was given Wednesday by the Provincial Executive in Vancouver, which was attended by Mayor McKenzie, chairman of the Nanaimo branch.

This grant is expected to revive interest in the Brigade and revive the drilling of the boys.

THIN PERSONS LIVE LONGER. Addressing a meeting of actuaries in Edinburgh Mr. Lewis Orr, General Manager of the Scottish Life Assurance Company, submitted a table of standard weights showing how the build of an individual affected his longevity very considerably.

The table which was the first of its kind produced in this country showed clearly the truth of the statement that the heavier the weight the shorter the life. From what they knew of German and Austrian insurance statistics they reached the not uninteresting conclusion that the Anglo-Saxon, as presented by Great Britain the United States and Canada, was of considerably lighter type, for his height, that the German and Austrian, roughly speaking to the extent of about one stone.

This might possibly indicate a corresponding athletic superiority of the Anglo-Saxon which may have been without effect on the outcome of the war—London Times.

The under-tone continues firm, and traders are looking for a strong market in some of this week's comparatively quiet issues. A reaction is due in stocks, which have enjoyed recent spectacular advances.

New York, March 20.—Trade reviews of week say business conditions show decided improvement despite traffic congestion. Ohio Cities Gas to issue $10,000,000 8 per cent. pfd. stock convertible within three years from July 1 into common.

Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company, of Baltimore, earned $8.20 a share on stock in 1919 against $8.04 in 1918.

Twenty Industrials yesterday 103.66, or 0.32; twenty falls 78.49, or 0.11.

Senate defeats German peace treaty, returns it to President Wilson.

Standard Oil of New York, leases building at 14 to 20 Broadway for 98 years for $25,000,000, being probably the largest leasing transaction ever closed in New York city.

Disorders continue throughout Germany with many killed in riots in Berlin.

Terms of United States loan of $15,000,000 to Denmark expected to be announced by local bankers soon.

Bainbridge Colby's nomination for Secretary of State reported favorably by Senate Committee.

New York: New York Cotton Exchange directors have removed the 200-point fluctuation limit from March to 25 include, applying to March contracts only.

Washington: Representative Linkham, of Mass. in the House to-day introduced a joint resolution repealing declaration of war resolution on Germany of April 6, 1917, and declaring a state of peace existing with that country.

Chicago Tribune: Profit taking on corn and oats bought at lower prices and liquidation of high-price holdings was on a large scale yesterday. Short selling by operators who regarded the bull movement as over was also aggressive. Despite the liberal liquidation there is said to be much more to come and a further decline is expected before the market will be in good condition for another upturn.

"Great Britain has about four months' supply of meats on hand," said E. A. Bevan, head of the British food mission that controls supplies of meats, who was in Chicago yesterday. "We are getting supplies from Denmark, Sweden and South Africa. European countries that have not been shipping since the war started are getting back to normal. There is to be no decontrolling of meats for a long time."

New York: Federal Reserve Bank statement for week ending March 20: Clearing house average member loans, increase $128,000. Demand deposits, increase $107,720,000. Time deposits, increase $5,000,000. Reserve, increase $1,660,220. Actual loans, decrease, $39,285,000. Net demand deposits, increase $18,294,000. Time deposits, increase $4,254,000. Reserve deficit, decrease $37,016,420.

Financial News Bulletin: Market recognition of the constructive developments of the last few weeks have taken place to a considerable extent and the important extension of improvement will probably depend largely upon the condition of the money market and the response of the public to the bullish activity of the general list, according to evidence found in leading Wall Street channels. That there is considerable room for betterment in the railroad department goes without saying, but until the investor is convinced that the repressive policy of the Inter-State Commerce Committee is to be replaced by a constructive attitude on the part of the more powerful governmental body, it is not considered likely that this caution will be modified materially.

If commercial liquidation now under way is to be achieved without important troubles financially, the market for securities may be expected to work up.

SUGAR SUPPLY SHORT

But Large Shipment Expected by B. C. Refinery Next Week. No further supplies of granulated sugar will be available from the B. C. Sugar Refinery until the arrival of the next cargo of raws, wholesalers have been notified. Two cargoes are said to be not more than a week away.

Small quantities of lump and yellow sugar will be distributed as long as the supply lasts. The Catherine D. will be along next Tuesday with 1,700 tons of raws from Peru. This will keep the refinery going until the Steelmaker reaches port at the end of next week with 5,600 tons from Cuba. The Vancouver refinery has been closed down. It is expected that a start in the distribution of the Tuesday shipment may be made by Thursday.

Now that the limit on sugar prices has been removed, several cargoes of Eastern granulated sugar are rolling coastwards. This will be sold around twenty cents a pound wholesale.

FRENCH LOAN.

Paris, March 20.—Subscriptions to the French loan close to-day, and although no official figures have been given out as yet, Minister of Finance Francois-Marsal expresses himself as satisfied with the results.

Montesano, Wash., March 20.—Judge John M. Wilson has postponed until Monday, March 22, the hearing on motion for a new trial in the seven alleged I. W. W.'s convicted here of second-degree murder for the slaying of Lieut. Warren O. Grimm, Centralia Armistice Day Parade victim. The hearing was set for next Monday, but was postponed upon request of Defence Attorney George F. Vanderveer, who is trying a lawsuit in Portland. Judge Wilson said to-day that he would not pass upon the prisoners until after hearing arguments on the motion for new trial.

New York: Cotton ginning figures larger than expected.

New York: (Logan and Bryan on Cotton)—We believe that advantage should be taken of upturn from the current range of prices to make sales, believing as we do that the recent rise in values has been materially discounted and in evidence yesterday of liquidation by substantial interests.

Chicago: Early weather reports shows generally clear and fine all over.

Chicago Examiner: Holders of May corn made a rush to liquidate their lines yesterday, lacking the necessary buying powers prices slipped. The market was overdone when it opened, and those who owned the future were impressed with the idea there was but one course of values, still higher up, and when the market began to sag they all seemed to offer corn at the same time, and the price was a secondary consideration. Considerable strength was shown in oats at the opening and that grain was inclined to advance independently, but the sharp break in corn carried it off with liquidation by long and considerable selling in the way of putting out short lines. Exporters secured 25,000 bushels of rye here and a few scattered lots were sold outside.

Lower Prices for Victory Bonds Give Investors Higher Yields

In order to make the yield of Dominion Government Securities equal or superior to the interest yields of other high-grade Canadian securities, the Government Committee now regulating the sale and purchase of Victory Bonds have affixed the prices of the various issues as follows:

Table with columns: Maturity, Buying Price, Selling Price, Yield. Rows for 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930.

These lower prices for Canada's first securities make the long-term issues particularly attractive from an investment standpoint, as in normal times these bonds should be several points above the prices quoted.

BEEKEEPING GROWS IN THE PROVINCE

Total of 6,830 Colonies Are Kept by Licensed Apiarists

Legislative Press Gallery,
March 19.

Bee-keepers were said by the Minister of Agriculture to have contributed through taxes in 1919 the sum of $2,146. A total of 6,830 colonies of bees were kept by those paying taxes. Three inspectors were employed by the department, stated the Minister. These were W. H. Turnbull, Alex. Keir and A. W. Finlay. They received $120 per month and expenses.

Answering questions placed on the order paper by the Leader of the Opposition, the Minister of Finance stated that E. B. McMaster was collector of provincial revenue at Vancouver, with a salary of $200 per month. The Minister stated Mr. McMaster had been selected from various candidates as the man best suited for the position. He had three years' service overseas, enlisting as a private, and being demobilized a captain.

Answering questions placed upon the order paper by R. H. Pooley, Premier Oliver said he did not know where F. C. Wade, Agent-General, was. Mr. Wade was absent with leave because of illness, and had received a doctor's certificate. Mr. Wade's expenses in connection with his trip are not being paid by the Government, said the Premier, nor was there any information available to show that he was privately negotiating with certain ventures while in Canada.

Mr. Pattullo Friday informed the Leader of the Opposition that although certain returned soldiers had taken up the matter of bearing lots in Burnaby, the Government thought the cost would be too high and the work was not undertaken.

Mr. Pooley was informed by the Provincial Secretary that the Government had not given any grant to the Comrades of the Great War either in Vancouver or Victoria.

Other questions and answers show that the Dominion of Canada Guarantee and Accident Assurance Company have notified the Government they have forwarded a cheque for $4,000 covering the bond carried by the company on J. G. Cook, who was absconded, leaving Vancouver secretary and being short in his accounts $4,645.

The present salary of Joseph Borque, deputy sheriff of the County of Vancouver, is $175 per month, having been increased from $140 per month through "the importance of the duties of his office."
